Some expert advice if you worry about sleep

NEW YORK (AP) — Lots of people worry whether they are getting enough sleep.

To comfort at least some of them, a British neurologist remarked:

"Sleeping little matters little. What does matter is the anxiety it produces."

Feelings and personal beliefs about sleep are in the news with proposed bans on TV advertising of some popular overthe-counter sleeping pills. Medical critics have charged that they are not effective, or could even be dangerous if taken in excess quantity.

Sleep, for all the scientific study of it, is still a mysterious phenomenon. But specialists do offer some bits of advice.

Some physicians blame insomnia upon tensions of modern life. As one said, "Anxiety is the income tax of civilization."

Being worried or fearful can, of course, interfere with sleep. And, in turn, losing too much sleep can make people irritable, fatigued, and more worried about not sleeping on the next chance.

Everyone occasionally misses out on his or her usual set hours of sleep with absolutely no ill effects. Young Army volunteers have been kept awake as long as five days with no physical harm or changes. But some did start seeing things, and most became irritable.

A firm belief that you must have eight hours sleep every night can be a cause of insomnia troubles — from worry over not getting it. Actually the amount of sleep a person needs is quite individual — some people need the eight, some do fine on six, others need 10. And the prescription of how much you need can vary with physical and mental activities, with expectations of something good or bad looming on the morrow, and changes in age.

Among myths or false concepts held about sleep, say the specialists, are:

—"Lost sleep must be made up." It can't, hour for hour.

—"I didn't sleep a wink last night." Some studies indicate that a person spending eight hours abed probably slept, in total four to five hours even though he thinks he never dozed off once.

Yet insomnia is a real and serious problem to many persons. It may be caused by illness, chronic pain, overexcitement, digestive upsets, too much coffee or tobacco and by emotional problems. Doctors can help pinpoint the cause.

Exactly what sleep is and how we fall asleep are mysterious. There are numerous theories. It may be that instead of having a sleep center in the brain, we have a waking center that becomes inactive, thus permitting sleep.

As aids to sleep, some physicians advise warm baths, warm milk or cocoa, sex, wine, intentionally slowing down an hour before bedtime — avoiding thrillers on TV or books — using a mattress that is not too soft nor a pillow too hard.

A general bit of advice, not often easy to achieve, is: Banish the day's cares and worries from your mind, and think of something pleasant.

President finds NYC a popular political target

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is finding New York City a popular political target, drawing applause from Republicans every time he vows to block any federal aid for the city "with a hole in its fiscal pocket."

He did it in Milwaukee, in San Francisco and Los Angeles, and it clicked every time.

The President said in a Los Angeles television interview that he is sorry for New Yorkers because they have been misled by their officials into the city's current financial crisis.

He exempted Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller from his criticism, saying he was talking about locally elected officials, not former New York governors.

From the platform, his tone was stern.

"Let's make sure we understand each other," he told some 2,300 Republican donors in a Milwaukee concert hall Thursday night. "It is neither responsible nor compassionate to spend a city or a nation into bankruptcy, and I can assure you this President will never allow the doors of the U.S. Treasury to be flung open to every city with a hole in its fiscal pocket."

That drew applause and cheers that turned into a standing ovation, the loudest and longest he heard during a three-city GOP money-raising mission.

Ford said if the federal government goes on spending more than it has, "then a day of reckoning will ultimately come to Washington and our entire country, just as now it has come to New York City."

That time, there were some cries of "Amen," amid the applause.

Ford's mission took him back to San Francisco and the St. Francis Hotel, which still bears the mark of a wildly fired bullet shot five weeks ago in an apparent assassination attempt.

This time, the trip was without significant incident.

There was a bomb threat in Los Angeles on Wednesday and an eccentric with a toy gun in San Francisco on Thursday, but there was no trouble.

Ford traveled under rigid security.

Man caught robbing home of couple he abducted and shot

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Heavily armed police officers captured a gunman who they said abducted and drove an elderly San Diego couple to a remote suburban area, shot both of them leaving one dead, and then returned to rob the couple's home.

Authorities identified the gunman tentaively as Jay Love. They said he was arrested late Thursday night as he emerged from the home of Frank and Vivian Rezabek.

Rezabek, the survivor, was reported in serious condition with multiple gunshot wounds at El Cajon Valley Hospital in suburban El Cajon.

Police and San Diego County sheriff's deputies said the victims were abducted from their home in the Encanto area of San Diego, and driven in their car to near Alpine, about 25 miles east of the city. There, both were shot and dumped in a ditch, officers said.

Rezabek, however, managed to crawl out of the ditch and summon help. He gave deputies the license number of his car and a description of the gunman.

Officers spotted the car outside the couple's home, which had its lights on inside.

They cordoned off the area and the house was then surrounded by a dozen Special Weapons and Tactics squad members.

Officers said after a vigil of two hours, Love walked out through the rear of the house and was arrested.

A police spokesman said Love did not resist and he was unarmed when arrested.

A midday drizzle Thursday drenched the valley with up to a third-inch of rain, the heaviest of the season. But the precipitation was uneven. Upland reported only .06 inch and Montclair and Claremont recorded .10.

At Mt. Baldy .51 inch of rain fell.

The National Weather Service said the drizzle was the result of a pressure front moving through the valley from the northwest. The front is over Arizona today.

The rain removed pollutants from the sky. Officials said no smog is expected today or Saturday.

Big earthquake in Philippines

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — A major earthquake rocked sparsely populated parts of The Philippines today, but there were no immediate reports of damage or injuries.

Weather bureau seismologists here said the strongest tremors were felt 300 miles southeast of Manila. The area is largely undeveloped and heavy damage was not expected.

The National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., and the U.S. Geological Survey in Washington, D.C., reported the quake occurred at 3:28 p.m. EST and registered 7.3 on the Richter scale.

A 7 reading is considered a "major" quake capable of causing widespread heavy damage.

Employe admits holdup faked; three arrested

A 19-year-old drive-in restaurant employe who claimed he was robbed of $946 and left handcuffed to the steering wheel of his car Oct. 23 has been charged with conspiracy and embezzlement, together with two other employes of the restaurant.

Pomona police charged that the three collaborated in the fake holdup because they were angry at the parent company, In-N-Out Burger, for not closing its outlet on N. Towne Avenue.

Those arrested were the alleged victim, Richard A. Wold of Ontario, Jay Sheldon Hattabaugh, 23, of Diamond Bar, and a 17-year-old La Verne youth. All were booked on suspicion of conspiracy and embezzlement.

Hattabaugh was assistant manager at the In-N-Out on Towne Avenue and the two teen-agers were employes there. Investigators said the trio admitted their part in the scheme and some of the money was recovered.

Wold told police that night that he was about to make a night deposit at the rear of the United California Bank branch at 321 E. Holt Ave. when a man forced his way into the car, took the cash and gave it to a second man. Then, according to Wold, the robber forced him to drive to the Mt. Baldy area, wher he was left handcuffed to the steering wheel of the car.

Wold was found by a highway patrolman who said the young man was shouting for help. The patrolman summoned sheriff's deputies and Pomona police.

Investigators, who were suspicious of Wold's story, arrested him Wednesday at the police station and his arrest led to that Thursday of Hattabaugh at home and the juvenile boy at Bonita High School.

Police said that the night of the alleged holdup, Hattabaugh called the Pomona Police Department and told officers that he was worried about Wold because Wold had not returned from making the deposit.

Actually, investigators charged, Wold met the 17-year-old behind a church at San Bernardino Avenue and Palomares Street that night and gave the youth the money before driving to Mt. Baldy Road and handcuffing himself to the steering wheel.

Police reported that the three felt that because of neighborhood problems, the In-N-Out company should have closed its restaurant on Towne Avenue and decided to punish the company by staging the fake robbery.

Mountain lions sighted in several valley cities

By JACK BURSON
PB Staff Writer

Apparently there is at least one mountain lion prowling northern areas of some valley cities, including Claremont and San Dimas, authorities said today.

Bruce Richards, director of the Humane Society of Pomona Valley, said estimates are that the animal stands about 30 inches tall at the shoulder and weighs between 120 and 150 pounds.

Richards said sightings have been made by law enforcement officers from West Covina to Claremont. The latest occurred Wednesday morning when Claremont Officer Richard Roach reported seeing a mountain lion along Mills Avenue south of Bluefield Avenue. Investigation later by Humane Society employe Andy Mendez revealed paw prints three inches across, which definitely were those of a "big cat," Richards said.

Other sightings in the Claremont area have included several near the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden and another recently north of Foothill Boulevard near Indian Hill Boulevard.

One sighting was made recently in Bonelli Park and a day later another nearby in Pomona in a vacant area southwest of the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds.

In the latter case, workmen at the fairgrounds reported watching through binoculars for 20 minutes while a mountain lion sniffed around a construction site before ambling off into the hills.

Richards said that the animals are attracted to Puddingstone Lake in Bonelli Park by ducks living there. He also said mountain lions are not too unusual in the Chino area. But to find any near Claremont is very unusual, he said.

Such creatures have a range of about 50 miles and may cover large portions of that range in a single day, Richards said. The animal being seen locally may be the same in every case, he added.

Richards said the lion does not pose an immediate threat to human beings, even children, because lions naturally are fearful of man. He suggested, however, that residents living near foothill areas be careful of their pets.

Meanwhile, animal regulation authorities are studying the reports. Their aim is to see to it that any mountain lions driven for one reason or another into the local area are returned to the mountains without being destroyed.

"They serve an important and valuable function in the balance of nature," Richards said.

FINISHING UP

'Little Saigon' folds up; last refugees go

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) — What was America's largest relocation camp for Indochina war refugees is now a scattering of plowed fields and a few empty tents.

"Little Saigon" is no more.

Some 23 Vietnamese refugees spent their last night in the camp Thursday, waiting for their American sponsors to arrive Friday. Another 124 left, one at a time or in small groups, to begin new lives as American residents.

Meanwhile, 123 Cambodians who want to go home were flown to Ft. Chaffee, Ark., where they will wait for the new Khmer Rouge government to decide whether to accept them. With them was a Vietnamese refugee who wants to go back to Saigon.

For six months, the camp was a city in its own right on this sprawling Marine base. The Marines who ran it fed, clothed and sheltered 18,500 persons at a time. Vietnamese, Cambodians and Laotians uprooted by the collapse of their anti-Communist governments.

There were doctors, teachers, students, engineers, fishermen, farmers and thousands of ex-soldiers and government officials of every rank, from the lowest clerk to former South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Many came with extended families numbering 20 persons or more. Others barely managed to get out themselves in the panicked evacuations of Saigon and Phnom Penh.

In all, 50,417 unsponsored refugees passed through the steel Quonset huts and green nylon tents enroute to what amounted to a new world.

Under operation "New Horizons," volunteer civilian agencies matched up refugees with Americans or foreign nations willing to help them begin their lives again. The operation was coordinated by Nick Thorne, 55, himself an immigrant from Poland.

There were the expected problems of language barriers and paperwork. Children played in the dust outside their tents and parents studied English in makeshift schools while waiting for the volunteers to cut through the red tape.

For the refugees, there were many adjustments to make: a new, almost incomprehensibly huge country; for many, a new language and a strange culture.

Even the weather, with its chilly night breezes, was foreign.

Some found the strains of adjusting too much to take. They refused to leave the camp. Others left with sponsors but later returned. Still more demanded to be returned to their native countries.

Twenty Vietnamese threatened at one point to burn themselves alive unless they were flown to Guam to await repatriation. Government officials met their demand.

After Friday, the only refugees left on the base will be a Cambodian baby born Thursday, and his parents. They will stay in the Naval hospital there another four days. Then they, too, will leave.

Censorship suit filed over TV 'family hour'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Creators of shows ranging from "All in The Family" to "Mary Tyler Moore" have gone to legal war in an attempt to halt television's early-evening "family hour."

A broad spectrum of producers and three Hollywood unions — after months of complaints of alleged "censorship" — filed suit Thursday against the Federal Communications Commission, the three major television networks and the National Association of Broadcasters.

The networks' self-imposed attempt to cut down on excessive violence and sexual themes in early evening shows has cast a "chilling pall" over the creative community, says the suit filed in U.S. District Court.

"Censorship battles resulting from the prime-time censorship rule and the fears surrounding the rule's arbitrary and irrational application have fostered a dangerous 'self-restraint' which threatens to set back television's move toward realism and social importance," the suit said.

An NBC-TV spokesman said in reponse, "the family viewing hour is part of the broadcasting industry's efforts to respond to public concerns through selfregulation. We believe the public interest will be served if it is given a fair chance."

In anticipation of the suit, Arthur R. Taylor, president of the CBS corporate empire and the man who first proposed the family hour concept, had said recently he thought the complaint lacked merit and predicted it will be dismissed.

The "family" rule, adopted by the National Association of Broadcasters last April as part of the NAB's television code, says that programs inappropriate for family viewing shouldn't be aired in the first hour of network evening programming or in the immediately preceding hour. Those time periods vary according to time zones, with network programming starting at 7 p.m. in some and 8 p.m. in others.

What has particularly irked many TV writers and producers, as the suit asserts, is that neither the NAB nor the networks have defined standards for what is acceptable. They said the rule has created a climate in which some writers may unconsciously be censoring themselves even before their script is finished.

The suit was filed by the Writers Guild of America, the Directors Guild of America, the Screen Actors Guild and the producers of "All in the Family," "Sanford and Son," "M-A-S-H," "Barney Miller," "Phyllis," "Doc," "Rhoda," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," and two canceled shows, "Fay" and "The Montesfuscos."

Named as defendants were the FCC, ABC, CBS, NBC and the broadcasters association. A total of 535 television stations belong to the NAB, in which members agree to subscribe to its television code. Independent stations are exempted from the "family hour" rule until the start of the 1977 season.

Greyhound relocates in Claremont

Greyhound executives were hosts at a VIP luncheon today in Claremont marking the moving of the Greyhound Bus Terminal from Pomona to 888 S. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont.

Claremont Mayor Bertye Smith, along with elected officials and dignitaries from other valley communities, attended the luncheon, held at the Beef & Barrel Restaurant next door to the new terminal.

Greyhound officials present were Harry Lesko, vice president in charge of operations; R. N. Dick, regional vice president; J. L. Ross, regional sales director; and J. D. Kirby, area general manager.

The new terminal will be opened Saturday at 7 a.m.

There will be an open house in the air-conditioned facility from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Visitors will be served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Montante, current agents at both Ontario and Pomona terminals, wil become agents at the new facility in Claremont.

Greyhound will no longer use the Pomona and Ontario terminals.

There will be 35 departures daily out of the Claremont terminal including service to Las Vegas, Nev., Albuquerque, N.M., Salt Lake City, Utah and Chicago, Ill.

Telephone numbers to call for Greyhound schedules and package express information are 623-1501 and 984-9614.

Brown supports federal aid to N.Y. if controls imposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The federal government should come to the aid of financially troubled New York City, but there should be some strings attached to deal, says Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

"Obviously they are going to need some help," the Democratic chief executive told reporters Thursday. "But they are going to have to change some of the ways they are doing business.

"Federal assistance, I think, is appropriate but it has to be based on changes being made and should be limited in time."

New York City officials say the city will be forced to default on its debts unless it receives federal help soon. But President Ford has vowed to veto any bill providing that aid.

Brown's comments came one day after he told a meeting of county supervisors in San Jose that they shouldn't expect state help if their governments run into financial problems.

"I think you're going to have to stand on your own feet like a lot of other institutions," he told members of the County Supervisors Association of California.

The governor told reporters Thursday that the state will review bond programs of local governments to insure they aren't susceptible to a New York-style funding crisis.

"We are going to look into the borrowing pattern of local jurisdictions to make sure that their bonded indebtedness is used for long-term projects and not for current indebtedness," he said.

"The general thrust is to insure the credit rating of the state of California is protected by making sure that all of its subdivisions have the highest standards," he added.

The governor said the review had been suggested by state Treasurer Jesse Unruh. He said a committee could be set up to make the check.

He also added that legislation may be needed to insure that "bond procedures that cities adopt are consistent with the most prudent standards."

Brown said he wasn't sure what effect a New York City default would have on California. "I just don't know," he said. "That's like trying to second guess the stock market."

But he added: "California has a very strong fiscal condition. Our bonds are rated very high. From what I have heard investors think our economy is sound.

"I am not sure that the New York situation would have that much of a devastating impact."

LEAVING?

David A. Packard, former Deputy Defense secretary, is reported ready to resign as campaign fund-raising chairman for President Ford. A GOP source said Packard is dissatisfied with Howard Callaway, head of the campaign effort.

Campaign violations?

FBI probing Cory's tax referee choices

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The FBI says it is looking into the way state Controller Ken Cory handled the appointments of 74 inheritance tax referees.

Included among the appointees are relatives and friends of campaign contributors.

An FBI agent who asked not to be identified said Thursday that the bureau planned to investigate whether Cory had exacted any favors in return for the potentially lucrative appointments.

"This could be a case of classical political extortion," he said.

The agent explained that the FBI got involved in the case because the estates evaluated by inheritance tax appraisers often include stocks and bonds "which have an interstate character."

Paul Young, special agent in charge of the Sacramento FBI office, said agents had been asked to investigate Cory by the U.S. Justice Department.

Cory, a Democrat, was elected controller last November. His firings of tax appraisers and selections of successors have come under investigation by postal inspectors and a federal grand jury, so far without allegations of wrongdoing.

In addition, several fired appraisers have gone to court to try to keep their jobs.

State law bars the controller from appointing campaign contributors as appraisers, but does not mention relatives or friends of contributors.

One judge has declared that the prohibition against appointing contributors is unconstitutionally discriminatory. The case is being appealed.

Cory has denied any wrongdoing and has urged that the appointment of appraisers be taken out of the controller's hands.

Bonita High Boosters to hold dinner, dance

The Bonita High School Band Boosters will hold their annual fall dinner-dance Saturday night at the Community Building in San Dimas.

Bonita's award-winning Stage Band will provide music for the evening. The cocktail hour begins at 7:30 p.m. with dinner being served at 8:30 and dancing until 1 a.m.

Tickets are $5 per person, and the event is open to the public.

Proceeds from the function will help defray the expenses of a tour to the San Diego area by Bonita's Concert Band. Reservations may be made by calling Kay Borges, 599-3305, or Jim McClung, 599-4735.

Bob Garcia and Mrs. Borges are co-chairmen of the dance.

Under the direction of Robin Snyder, the Bonita Stage Band has brought numerous honors to the La Verne school at such festivals as the Reno International Jazz, the Monterey Jazz Festival, Southwestern Jazz Festival and the Hollywood Bowl.

In competition with the best young musicians last year, Bonita placed members in the All-Southern California Jazz Ensemble, the Reno International Jazz Festival Honor Band and the Monterey Jazz Festival All Star Honor Band.

Delay in Moore trial is sought

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lawyers for Sara Jane Moore have asked the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to delay her trial while her mental competency is determined.

Chief Public Defender James Hewitt argued in a petition Thursday to the appellate court that Mrs. Moore, 45, would suffer "irreparable harm" if she were ordered to stand trial as ordered on Dec. 15.

She is charged with attempting to assassinate President Ford as he left the St. Francis Hotel on Sept. 22. She allegedly fired a pistol shot at the President, but the weapon was deflected by an ex-Marine.

Ford was at the same hotel again Thursday for a Republican fund-raising luncheon.

Claremont downtown parking rules eased

The Claremont City Council has taken another step toward attracting new business into The Village shopping area, in the first reading of an ordinance relaxing minimum parking requirements.

The Village area is defined as business north of First Street and east of Indian Hill Boulevard.

A businessman required to supply an off-street parking space for each 350 square feet of gross floor area would under the new ordinance be required to have a space for each 500 square feet.

Restaurants required to furnish a space for each three persons will now be required to supply a parking space for each four persons.

Parking requirements of any commercial use with more than half of its operation hours after 5:30 p.m. may be reduced by half with approval of the director of community development.

The new ordinance provides for in lieu of fees instead of parking spaces being furnished, and parking credit for existing structures not now providing adequate spaces.

Judge allows controversial tape in murder trial

Now in hands of jury probing state tax referee appointments

A controversial tape recording being used in a federal grand jury investigation into state tax referee appointments by the State Controller's Office will be entered into evidence in a San Bernardino County murder trial.

The tape recording could contain politically explosive material, according to witnesses and attorneys involved in the Earlene Gooden trial

It was originally to be introduced by Miss Gooden's attorney, Donald Ames for her defense.

Miss Gooden is accused of murdering former Chaffey School District teacher Andrew J. Malahan on June 21 in his San Bernardino Apartment.

Matthew M. Kearney, attorney for political consultant Mike Valles, Tuesday failed in his attempt to obtain a court order from the Fourth District Court of Appeals suppressing the recording.

The tape recorded an alleged telephone conversation between Malahan and Valles in reference to Malahan's appointment as a state tax referee through the office of State Controller Ken Cory. According to the District Attorney's Office the tape could possibly point to an extortion plot in the appointment of state tax referees.

Kearney had asked the Court of Appeals to block the introduction of the tape recording as evidence in the murder trial because state law prohibits the use of illegal tape recordings as evidence in a judicial proceeding. He claimed that Malahan recorded the conversation with VAlles without telling Valles.

But John W. Kerrigan, acting presiding justice of the Court of appeals, denied Kearney's petition because the tape could be relevant both for the prosecution and defense in the case.

Kearney said that he has yet to decide if he will take the appeal to the state Supreme Court for further hearings.

Meanwhile, in trial testimony Tuesday the possibility of a second suspect in the alleged murder of Malahan was mentioned by a witness. The witness, Richard Beswick attorney for the law firm of Sprague, Milligan and Beswick, said that he became involved in the case when shortly after Malahan's death, police considered Malahan's wife, Glads, a suspect. Mrs. Malahan hired Beswick to look into the case for her.

Beswick said that he had mentioned the possibility of a second suspect, other than Miss Gooden, at a meeting with Deputy Dist. Atty. Betty Dyke and San Bernardino City detective Charles Wood about a week before the trial. Also at that meeting was attorney Stan Tomlinson, representing the Malahan estate, and a private investigator, Ted Schauf.

Details of the conversation about the second suspect may be revealed next week when the trial is slated to continue. The trial was postponed in order to give Kearney time to appeal the tape recording decision handed down by Judge Harold Holden of the Superior Court. Judge Holden denied Kearney's motion to suppress the tape in earlier hearing.

In other testimony Tomlinson testified that Malahan's estate consisted of a total of $135,000 in savings accounts and stocks, but had $78,000 in house and land loans outstanding.

Schauf testified that he had helped Malahan install a tape recorder with a remote microphone in his car a few days before his death. A second tape was revealed in court of Schauf's voice telling Malahan how to install and work the microphone. Beswick testified that Mrs. Malahan had told him that she had seen a towel near her husband's body, and that a container of small change for use in a washing machine was missing.

Monday Mrs. Maureen Hopkins, Malahan's secretary, testified that she suggested her employer tape record conversations with Valles and other state politicians in regard to his reappointment as a tax referee. She said she thought the conversation between Malahan and Valles about his appointment sounded "fishy," and that there was a hint Malahan might have to pay for information about his appointment.

She added that Malahan was not 100 per cent sure of his appointment on Friday, the day before his death.

She said that Malahan had heard earlier that someone might be appointed in his place, but was reassured later that three tax referees would be appointed in San Bernardino County, one being himself. In the past year only Malahan and one other man were appointed referees, drawing fees of approximately $21,000 a year each. The third appointment would have still assured Malahan of a job, but it would have reduced his earnings, she testified.

Bernard J. Bidart, a real estate salesman, was appointed to fill Malahan's post one week after his death, but no third referee has been appointed.

'Take to the streets'—Carey

N.Y. governor calls for mass rallies

NEW YORK (AP) — Castigating President Ford for giving New York City a "kick in the groin," Gov. Hugh Carey has called on New Yorkers to "take to the streets" in mass rallies to get emergency federal legislation to avoid financial default by the city.

"New York is going to have to act," the angry Democratic governor said Thursday. "If we don't show this city is alive and kicking, the vultures will begin to gather ... and start to pick off the jobs, the businesses, and the concerns who say, 'New York is a bankrupt city, lets look elsewhere....'

"We're going to take a day and we're going to turn out New York City. Whether its Times Square or Central Park ... we're going to sound off on behalf of this city. Its going to be Operation Comeback and Operation New York is Alive and Kicking."

The governor's rallying cry came a day after the GOP president vowed that he would veto any legislation for a federal bail-out of the city. Instead, Ford proposed to put the city under control of a federal bankruptcy court if it defaulted.

Ford added Thursday in San Fransisco that New York's dilemma should serve as a warning to all municipalities.

However, Carey charged that the cost of Ford's alternative plan would be "tremendous" — $500 million for the first six months and about $1.2 billion shortly thereafter.

"I want everybody voting for that bankruptcy bill ... to stand up and vote to put $1.2 billion of money from San Diego all the way through Tallahassee into New York City," he said.

Carey said that one fiscal expert had characterized the President's plan as "the words of Archie Bunker to the music of Herbert Hoover."

Carey's sharp words came as two optimistic developments for the city arose in Congress and in the city's labor ranks.

Despite Ford's veto threat, the Senate Banking Committee in Washington Thursday approved a bill with $4 billion in loan guarantees for the city. The legislation went to an uncertain fate on the Senate floor.

At the same time, plans were under consideration to use the $8.5 billion in assets of the five city pension retirement systems to guarantee $4 billion in loans. The loans would be used to buy Municipal Assistance Corporation (MAC) bonds that would convert the city's unwieldly short-term debt to long-term obligations.

Albert Shanker, president of the United Federation of Teachers, said he was "not opposed in principle" to the plan. Two weeks ago, the city teetered on the brink of default when Shanker refused until the last moment to release teachers' pension fund money to help the city meet its immediate debts.

CAMPAIGNING GOVERNOR

$4.7 billion in foreign aid wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is seeking congressional approval of a foreign aid package that would double current U.S. aid around the world and supply a total of $3.38 billion to Mideast countries.

In a message outlining his foreign aid proposals, Ford told Congress on Thursday that he wants total expenditure of $4.7 billion for aiding foreign governments, with about 70 per cent of that amount earmarked for the Middle East.

His request more than doubles the current congressionally approved aid level of $2.21 billion. Much of the increase is due to a jump in requested Middle East spending from $1.13 billion to $3.38 billion.

"I am confident the Congress shares my desire to see the United States continue to manifest to all nations its determination to play a role in the search for a more secure international environment which is worthy of its greatness as a nation," Ford said.

He told Congress that the United States has "a primary responsibility" to ensure world peace.

Ford's proposal would send $1.5 billion in military aid to Israel, along with $740 million in economic aid. In addition, the President suggested that $750 million be granted to Egypt as economic aid.

Ford said his purpose in requesting the military aid for Israel was to provide the Jewish state "with the assistance needed to maintain security and to persevere in the negotiating process."

Over the past two years, Israel received $3.15 billion in military and economic aid and Egypt got $251 million last year. The current package also includes $50 million to pay for the stationing of American technicians in the Sinai to monitor the Sinai peace.

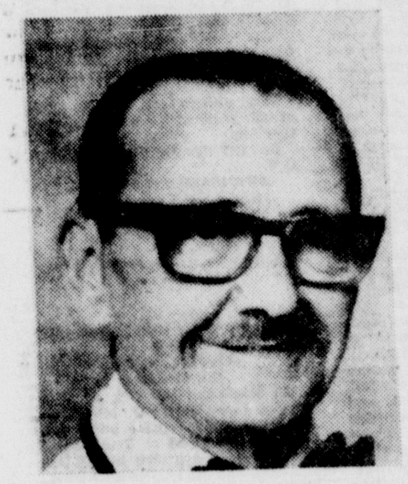
Explaining his concentration on the Middle East, Ford said, "The hope for a lasting solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute is stronger today than at any time in the previous quarter century....

"All of this aid will contribute to the confidence that Middle Eastern nations must have in the United States if we are to maintain our momentum toward peace."

In addition to the aid for Israel and Egypt, the President recommended $175 million in military aid and $78 million in economic support for Jordan; $90 million in economic assistance to Syria; and $5 million in military sales to Lebanon.

Gunman surrenders following 20-hour bank ordeal

Ex-convict releases hostages after robbery attempt failed



EDDIE WATKINS

CLEVELAND (AP) — Exconvict Edward O. Watkins, thwarted in a bank robbery attempt, released six hostages and surrendered quietly Thursday after holding 200 policemen at bay for more than 20 hours.

Watkins, 56, had been armed with a gun and what he said was a dynamite bomb. Police said the bomb was a fake.

"He said he had had enough," FBI agent Edward Hegerty reported.

Watkins, who said he suffered from a bad heart, was escorted in handcuffs from the Society National Bank branch about noon.

The end came shortly after Watkins talked to Mayor Ralph Perk and to a judge who once sentenced him to prison for 45 years.

FBI agents said Watkins was surprised while trying to hold up the bank at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday. Police and FBI agents responding to a silent alarm surrounded the building, and Watkins forced nine hostages into an employes' lounge in the rear.

Watkins let three women hostages who reported health problems go during the first six hours.

A few minutes after Perk walked into the west side bank branch, two hostages were removed on stretchers. The others walked out a short time later.

U.S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas, the man who sentenced Watkins to 45 years in prison in 1967, said he asked whether he would be assured proper medical treatment. Mayor Perk said he also discussed medical care with Watkins and assured him he would get good care.

A few minutes later, "he said okay, he would surrender," Harry Antel, a police inspector, said.

First to be carried out was Willam Hann, the branch manager, who was treated at a hospital for exhaustion and released. The second person brought out on a stretcher, also suffering from exhaustion, was a woman clerk.

The three hostages released late Wednesday said they had been told the large, cardboard box contained enough dynamite to blow up the whole building. They said there appeared to be a plunger on the box, and Watkins kept his hand on a device connected to the plunger.

Police said Watkins used the bomb threat to demmand money, a van to take him to the airport, and a plane.

Accused slayer of Cal Poly professor arrested in Arizona

Richard Sinnott, 17, of Tempe, Ariz., is the youth accused of murder in the death Oct. 20 of Cal Poly professor William C. Warner, the Progress Bulletin has learned.

Sinnott was arrested in his home at 3839 S. Mill Ave. in Tempe, near Phoenix Monday by deputies of the Maricopa County Sheriff's Department and confined in the county jail in Phoenix.

Warner, 53, was beaten to death in his apartment in Diamond Bar during the weekend of Oct. 17 to 20. He was associate professor of urban planning at Cal Poly.

Maricopa County authorities arrested Sinnott on the strength of a warrant issued at the District Attorney's Pomona office. The warrant accused the youth of murder and robbery. Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies had not revealed that they suspected robbery in connection with Warner's slaying.

Sinnott's fighting extradition to California and one to two months may be required before he can be brought before the Juvenile Court in Pomona, authorities said.

WEST COVINA police have released an unidentified man arrested Tuesday in connection with the strangulation there of Sharon Aldridge, 23.

Police Lt. Don Goddard said that the investigation determined that the man had nothing to do with the woman's slaying late Monday night.

The victim's body was found 63 feet from her parked car at the rear of a medical building at 767 S. Sunset Ave. She had battled her attacker desperately before being slain, Goddard said. During the struggle, which took place inside Mrs. Aldridge's 1965 Volkswagen, one window of the car had been kicked out and was found lying unbroken nearby.

The area where the victim was found is about three-quarters of a mile from the new West Covina Plaza, but, Goddard said, there is no evidence that Mrs. Aldridge was kidnaped from the mall. He said investigators do not know where the killer accosted the victim and apparently forced his way inside her car.

Coroner's physicians reported Wednesday that the victim had not been sexually assaulted.

A woman attempted Tuesday to withdraw $5,000 from a savings account at the Bank of California, 100 S. Euclid Ave., ONTARIO, by forging the signature of an Ontario resident, police reported.

Officers said the woman had been in the bank and cashed two checks totalling $268 by forging a signature of the same Ontario resident. Wednesday afternoon the woman appeared at the bank again with a bankbook and a withdrawal slip for $5,000.

She turned the slip into the teller, Margaret Delgado, and asked for the money. Mrs. Delgado went to get the approval for the withdrawal from the bank manager, but the manager needed further information. Mrs. Delgado said she began asking the woman about her address and the woman evaded her questions and ran out of the bank. She got into a bright yellow Thunderbird car, and drove off.

The woman was described as a Caucasian, 22, 5 feet 5, 120 pounds with long blonde hair. She was wearing a blue slack outfit.

Gun controls may not pass by year's end

WASHINGTON (AP) — A subcommittee's decision to delay consideration of handgun legislation has all but killed chances of House passage of new gun controls this year.

The decision by the House judiciary subcommittee on crime came Thursday after the panel voted 6 to 1 to reject a proposal that would have banned all private ownership of handguns in America. Only Chairman John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., who sponsored the bill, voted for it.

After taking the action, subcommittee members put aside other proposals for handgun controls and elected instead to have the majority and minority counsels list various gun-control proposals. These would include registration, licensing of handgun owners and a ban on "Saturday night specials."

The two lawyers are to report back to the subcommittee Wednesday, when the panel will begin to draft its own bill. However, Monday is the deadline set by the House Rules Committee for scheduling bills on the House floor for the remainder of the year.

The Rules Committee, which decides which bills reach the floor, has said it would not add to the legislative calendar after that date.

Even before the Rules Committee can be given the legislation, the full House Judiciary Committee must approve it.

Despite the delay, Conyers still insisted Thursday that a gun control bill will reach the House floor before the year is out. He did not explain how.

The only other way for legislation to reach the House floor without going through the Rules Committee is for a two-thirds majority to call for its consideration. There is little likelihood that supporters of gun control can muster that many votes.

The subcommittee had been scheduled to draft a bill last week, but the sessions were postponed when Conyers stayed in Detroit to campaign for a local mayoral candidate. A second delay came this week when Conyers and the subcommittee's ranking Republican, Robert McClory of Illinois, disagreed on how to draft the legislation.

HALLOWEEN HANDIWORK

These students, attending a professional makeup artists' class in New York Thursday, display the proper attire for trick or treaters. Ghoulish costumes include, from left, (top) Oriental vampire, the phantom of the opera, (bottom) a witch and a cat lady. They'll be on the loose tonight.

Stamps to go up two cents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price for a letter stamp would increase by two cents instead of three in December under legislation approved in the House on Thursday. It now costs 10 cents to mail a one-ounce letter.

The House adopted a provision which limits this year's postal rate increase to 20 per cent and then approved a postal service bill 267 to 113.

New rates are to take effect Dec. 28. The U.S. Postal Service had proposed that first-class postage be increased to 13 cents for the first ounce.

Debate was very critical of the semipublic Postal Service and the House rejected, 207 to 96, an attempt to provide an extra $1.5 billion subsidy on top of the $900 million permanent annual subsidy.

Defeat of the subsidy measure left standing a previous amendment which sharply limits the fiscal autonomy of the U.S. Postal Service, which was set up in 1970 to replace the Post Office Department.

Conference committee says no to anti-busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional conferees today killed a proposal aimed at prohibiting the busing of school children in the interest of fuel conservation.

By a 3-2 vote, House members of the conference committee considering a comprehensive energy bill agreed to strip the measure of the antibusing provisions added by the House.

The move required no action by the Senate conferees, since the Senate energy bill contains no antibusing provisions.

However, several Senate conferees had sought to substitute their own antibusing language for the House amendment.

But because the first move was up to the House delegation, Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., was unable to get a vote on his proposal that would have specifically allowed busing if done with the approval of a pupil's parents.

The House proposal, which was approved by the full House last month on a 204-201 vote, would have —Made it illegal to use gasoline or diesel fuel in any vehicle for carrying a publicschool pupil past the school nearest his home. The only exception would have been for a parent transporting his own child. However, a parent carpooling several neighborhood children across town would have been subject to a $5,000 fine.

—Allowed a service-station operator to refuse to sell gasoline to a customer if he had reason to believe the fuel would have been used for busing. A violation would have resulted in the station's losing its fuel supply for six months.

County building violates code

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The county's new $34 million Arraignment Courts Building apparently does not meet the county building code, and county Supervisors have asked for a review of the project.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL PROPERTY
Foreclosure No. 53077

NOTICE is hereby given that on November 7, 1975, at the hour of 11:00 A.M. in the lobby of the office of Transamerica Title Insurance Company at 8487 West Third Street, Los Angeles, California 90048 TRANSAMERICA TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY, a California corporation, as present Trustee, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in lawful money of the United States, the following described real property situated in the UNINCORPORATED AREA, County of Los Angeles, State of California, and described as follows, to wit:

ALL THAT REAL PROPERTY, IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, DESCRIBED AS FOLLOWS:

PARCEL 1:

Parcel 18 of Parcel Map No. 1753, as per map recorded in Book 28, Pages 16 to 40, inclusive, of Parcel Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

EXCEPT THEREFROM all oil, gas, and other hydrocarbons and minerals now or at any time hereafter situated therein and thereunder, together with the exclusive right to drill for, produce, extract, take and mine therefrom, such oil, gas, and other hydrocarbons and minerals, and to store the same upon the surface of said land, or below the surface of said land, together with the right to store upon the surface of said land, all oil, gas, and other hydrocarbons and minerals, which may be produced from other lands, with the right of entry thereon for said purposes, and with the right to construct, use, maintain, erect, repair, replace, and remove thereon and therefrom, all pipe lines, telephone and telegraph lines, tanks, machinery, buildings, and other structures, which may be necessary and requisite to carry on operations on said land, with the further right to erect, maintain, operate and remove a plant, with all necessary appurtenances for the extraction of gasoline from gas, including all rights necessary or convenient thereto, as reserved in deed from Transamerica Development Company, a corporation, recorded March 29, 1968, in Book D-3955, Page 185, Official Records; and re-recorded June 19, 1969, in Book D-4407, Page 591, Official Records; and as Modified by a Quitclaim Deed, recorded October 16, 1970, as Instrument No. 1672, in Book D-4862, Page 319, Official Records.

PARCEL 2:

A non-exclusive easement to be used in common with others for the purposes hereafter described, subject to the provisos stated herein, upon the surface of the property herein described and above said surface to the extent reasonably necessary for the said purposes; said purposes being ingress and egress between said "Parcel 1" and Grand Avenue or Rancheria Road; said property being that portion and only that portion of the land described as Parcels 1 through 22, inclusive, in that certain Easement Grant Deed recorded December 10, 1970, in Book D-4913, Pages 310 et seq., Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, which constitutes the one route which is both the most practicable for said purposes and the most direct to said Grand Avenue or said Rancheria Road; provided, however, that upon the earlier of (1) the dedication to and acceptance for public use by the appropriate public body of a public street providing ingress and egress continuously between "Parcel 1" and said Grand Avenue or said Rancheria Road, or (2) the completion of construction of an all-weather surface private street at least twenty (20) feet wide at all points providing such ingress and egress, said easement shall automatically be limited to and only upon and above the right of way of said public street or private street. In the event said easement is limited to a public street, such easement shall be and remain subordinate to the rights of the public in and to said public street; and provided, further, that prior to the limitation of such easement to the right of way of a public or private street, as described above, the owner or owners of any property subject to said easement, or of any possessory interest or interests therein, shall at any time have the right to substitute a recorded temporary alternative easement for a period of not more than six (6) calendar months from the date of such recording, for ingress and egress substantially equivalent in actual use to the easement originally granted hereby, when such temporary alternative is reasonably required because of such owner's use or development of the property subject to the easement originally granted hereby, or property of such owner or owners in the vicinity of the property subject to the latter easement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the easements granted in this "Parcel 2", or portions thereof, shall be confined to a particular portion or portions of the property subject to said easements as originally granted hereby, which portion or portions of such property is described in a "Declaration of Confinement of Easements" hereafter executed by The Diamond Bar Development Corporation and recorded in the Official Records of the County Recorder of the County of Los Angeles. The Diamond Bar Development Corporation may assign to any successor of its business affairs the rights contained in the immediately preceeding sentence;

Recorded December 28 1970 as Instrument No. 2073.

PARCEL 3:

A non-exclusive easement over, upon and under the parcels of land hereafter described for the purposes of constructing, maintaining, repairing, relocating, restoring, removing, changing the size of, operating and using, continuously or from time to time, one or more pipe lines, mains and appurtenances thereto for any sanitary sewer purpose or purposes, and for any purpose or purposes directly or indirectly related thereto; together with the right of ingress and egress to and from the parcel or parcels of land hereafter described, at such times and in such manner as may be appropriate to the use of said easement for the purposes heretofor described, or any of them, said parcel or parcels of land being described as follows:

All of Parcel Map No. 1753, as filed in Book 28, Pages 16 through 40, inclusive, of Parcel Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County, except the property referred to as "Parcel 1".

The easements granted by this "Parcel 3" may be confined in whole or part, to a particular portion or portions of the property subject to said easements which portion of portions of the property is described in one or more documents entitled "Declaration of Confinement of Easements" hereafter executed by The Diamond Bar Development Corporation and recorded in the Official Records of the County Recorder of the County of Los Angeles. The Diamond Bar Development Corporation may assign to any successor of its business affairs the rights contained in the immediately preceeding sentence;

Recorded December 28 1970 as Instrument No. 2073.

PARCEL 4:

A non-exclusive easement to be used in common with others for ingress egress and utility purposes and only such purposes, under and upon the surface of each of those areas (except those areas located entirely within the boundaries of the property referred to as "Parcel 1" above) shown as "Future Street" on Parcel Map No. 1753, as filed in Book 28, Pages 16 et seq., of Parcel Maps, in the Office of the County Recorder of said County, said easement being appurtenant to and for the benefit of the property referred to as "Parcel 1".

Recorded December 28 1970 as Instrument No. 2073.

PARCEL 5:

A non-exclusive easement to be used in common with others for ingress, egress and utility purposes, and only such purposes, under and upon the surface of each of those areas (except those areas located entirely within the boundaries of the property referred to as "Parcel 1" above) shown as Access Easement" on Parcel Map No. 1753, as filed in Book 28, Pages 16 et seq., of Parcel Maps in the Office of the County Recorder of said County, said easement being appurtenant to and for the benefit of the property referred to as "Parcel 1".

Recorded December 28 1970 as Instrument No. 2073.

PARCEL 6:

A Non-exclusive easement to be used in common with others for slope maintenance purposes, and purposes incidental thereto, and only such purposes, under and upon the surface of each of those areas (except those areas located entirely within the boundaries of the property referred to as "Parcel 1" above) shown on Slope Easement of the County of Los Angeles on Parcel Map No. 1753, as filed in Book 28, Pages 16 et seq., of Parcel Maps in the Office of the County Recorder of said County, said easement being appurtenant to and for the benefit of the property referred to as "Parcel 1".

EACH OF THE EASEMENTS granted, described as Parcels 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 is for the benefit of and is appurtenant to that real property described as "Parcel 1" above.

Recorded December 28 1970 as Instrument No. 2073.

SAID sale will be made to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in a certain Deed of Trust executed by William F. McCarthy, a single man, as his sole and separate property to Mortgage Corporation of America, a California corporation, as Trustee, for the benefit and security of THE DIAMOND BAR DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION, as Beneficiary, dated December 23, 1970, and recorded as Instrument No. 2074 on December 28, 1970, in book/reel T6848, page/image 189, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California.

THAT notice of breach of said obligation and election to sell said real property was recorded as Instrument No. 1376 on July 7, 1975, in book reel M5057, page/image 76, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California.

THAT said sale is made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances, or as to insurability of title.

THE beneficiary or any other person or persons may purchase at said sale.

FRENCH POETRY READING — French poet, critic and teacher Michel Deguy will read his own poetry in French in the Wilbur Lounge, Scripps College, at 4:30 p.m. Nov. 10.

Currently visiting professor at UCLA, Deguy is on leave from the University of Paris VIII (Vincennes). His many books of poetry including "Les Meurtieres," "Fragments du Cadastre," "Biefs," "Actes" and "Figurations" have established Deguy as one of the reflective and compelling voices in contemporary French poetry.

Following the poetry reading, Deguy will answer questions and discuss his work.

Sponsored by the Scripps French faculty, the reading is open, free of charge, to all who understand French.

NEW COUNTY HEALTH CHIEF — Dr. Louis Mahoney has been selected as director of San Bernardino County's Public Health Department.

He is now health officer for Long Beach. His new assignment begins Dec. 1.

Dr. Mahoney has 10 years experience in public health, having served both the U.S. Public Health Service and the Los Angeles County Health Department.

BONELLI LAUNCH SESSION — Members of the Pomona Valley Sailing Association will meet with representatives of the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department 9:30 a.m. Nov. 15 at the launch site in Bonelli Park to discuss further development of the launch area.

All association members, and all interested boatsmen are urged to attend the meeting and make known their wishes regarding development of the area.

Jack Stewart, landscape architect with Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department, is anxious to discuss developmental sketches he has prepared with launch site users.

Granary illness warning issued

Camblin warned that a person exposed to nitrogen dioxide may not feel ill at the time. Those inhaling as little as 50 to 75 parts of nitrogen dioxide per million parts of air during a 30 to 60 minute interval can develop bronchitis. Those inhaling over 500 parts per million can develop acute pulmonary edeman, which is fatal in less than 48 hours.

Camblin urged grain farmers to take these precautions:

Don't let anyone enter the grain storage area from the time filling begins until seven to 10 days after it is finished; provide good ventilation around the storage area base during this period so possible toxic gases will be carried away; and provide fencing so children and animals won't wander into any spaces adjoining a storage area during the danger period.

Persons working in or around silos or granaries are warned to watch for symptoms of "silo filler's disease."

This disease is a form of chemical pneumonia that can attack anyone who works in or around a silo or granary, said Roy Camblin, San Bernardino County's agricultural commissioner.

It is caused by poisonous nitrogen dioxide gas, one of the most hazardous of lung irritants, which can develop in unvented grain storage areas.

The gas has pungent, sweetish odor, is heavier than air and in heavy concentration is visible as a reddish-brown haze, he added.

"Ordinarily, corn and other grains don't emit significant amounts of nitrogen dioxide. However, during the growth period when temperature sunlight and moisture conditions interfere with the normal plant metabolism of nitrates, the grain can accumulate excessive nitrates. During the first day or two of storage, this grain may release deadly amounts of nitrogen dioxide into the air.

Justice Dept. backed off taking action against Daley organization

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department declined to force Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's powerful Cook County Democratic organization to comply with federal campaign finance reporting laws last year, according to informed government sources.

The Democratic Party of Cook County, whose finances have long been kept secret from all but Daley and a few top aides, was cited early last year by Senate officials for failing to file required reports in 1972, a number of sources said.

The failure to file appears to have been deliberate, since Senate sources say that persons involved in the affair had been told repeatedly that reports would have to be filed.

The required financial disclosures would have shown the identity of each person who donated $100 or more to the Cook County party, and each expenditure of $10 or more. But the sources of the party's money and where it goes remain a mystery to Chicago voters.

According to executive branch sources, Justice Department lawyers in Washington saw the failure to report only as a "technical" violation of law. They closed the case last October without bringing charges and without requiring the Daley organization to comply with legal requirements, the sources said.

The sources also said no information on the case was given to the then-federal prosecutor in Chicago, James R. Thompson, who at the time was probing corruption in the Daley organization. A source close to Thompson confirmed that he had not been informed of the case or of the decision to drop it without action.

The Cook County Democratic party became legally obliged to register and to file periodic financial reports with the secretary of the Senate when it donated $5,000 to the losing Senate campaign of then-Rep. Roman C. Pucinski on Sept. 15, 1972.

Federal law requires reports of groups that raise or spend more than $1,000 to support a Senate candidate in a given year. Failure to comply is punishable by up to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Public records show Pucinski's campaign committee reported receiving the Sept. 15 gift from the Cook County Democrats, but the records show no trace of the required reports from the county organization.

Pucinski also reported getting $10,000 from another Daley-led group, the Cook County Democratic Dinner Committee. The committee also failed to file reports and was cited by Senate officials, sources said.

Pucinski had pressed Senate Secretary Francis R. Valeo to make an exception to the reporting rule for Daley and sent several letters and made several telephone calls, one of them lasting more than 20 minutes, the sources said.

"He was contantly pressing us," one source recalled. "We just kept repeating that there was no way they could avoid their reporting obligations."

When the Daley donations showed up on Puckinski's reports, Senate auditors tagged them for further investigation.

The probe confirmed a violation of reporting rules and also turned up several thousand dollars in small but technically illegal corporate campaign donations to Pucinski from small businessmen, sources said.

Valeo's chief investigator, Peter F. Roman, made repeated attempts to contact the officials of Daley's non-reporting committees, but the Daley aides did not return his telephone calls, sources said.

Valeo routinely forwarded the reporting violations to the Justice Department along with the other findings from Roman's investigation. Within six months the case was dropped.

The Justice Department refused to comment on the matter. The only explanation was offered by executive branch sources who declined to be identified publicly.

"We felt the spirit, if not the letter of the law, was satisfied when Pucinski did make his report," the sources said. "He cited the source of it and the date and all that sort of thing. So there was no hanky-panky that we could ascertain. In other words, there was no secret deal. Therefore, we closed the case."

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Oct. 31, the 304th day of 1975. There are 61 days left in the year. This is Halloween.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1517, Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses on the chapel door at Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany.

On this date:

In 1754, Columbia University had its beginning when a royal charter was granted to King's College in New York City.

In 1864, Nevada became the 36th state.

In 1955, Britain's Princess Margaret said in a radio broadcast: "I would like it to be known that I have decided not to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend."

In 1956 Britain and France bombed Egypt in the Israeli-Egyptian War.

In 1959, a former U.S. marine in Moscow, Lee Oswald, told newsmen he would never return to the United States.

In 1966, President Lyndon Johnson was enthusiastically received on a visit to Seoul, South Korea.

Ten years ago: President Humberto Castelo Branco of Brazil was consolidating power under decrees giving him dictatorial authority.

Five years ago: The worst floods in six years in South Vietnam claimed at least 150 lives and left more than 180,000 persons homeless.

One year ago: U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger flew from New Delhi to the captial of Bangladesh, Dacca.

Today's birthdays: Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia is 53. Actress Barbara Bel Geddes also is 53.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Rhode Island General Assembly voted to allow the people of Newport to supply the British ships stationed there with beef and beer in hopes they would halt their blockade of the port.

Dr. Sachs demoted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The former head of Community Health Services division of the county Health Services Department has been demoted after a 15-day suspension was withdrawn.

The county Civil Service Commission accepted the demotion of Dr. Ralph R. Sachs to chief of the chronic disease unit.

Sachs and two other officials were suspended and two others fired after hearings by Supervisor Baxter Ward into alleged poor conditions at nursing homes.

MUSICAL LIGHT TOWER — The city of Los Angeles is looking for an operator to program and operate its new Triforum, a six-story light tower with rainbow-colored prisms. The Triforum will debut in December when the multi-million mall is dedicated.

White academies of the north

BOSTON (AP) — A decade after white parents in the South set up private academies to avoid school integration, busing in the North has spawned South Boston Heights Academy and seven others like it.

The new schools, overwhelmingly white, are opening up in working class neighborhoods where parents are adamantly opposed to a court-ordered busing program in the nation's oldest public school system.

Since early this month, 400 white pupils of South Boston Heights Academy have been attending classes in storefront rooms at the South Boston Medical Building. Similar schools are scheduled to open soon in Hyde Park and East Boston, and four others, all intended for white neighborhoods, are in various stages of planning.

Some 400 private academies are estimated to have been established by whites in the South since widespread public school integration began there in the 1960s.

William Brunco, and electrical technician who serves as secretary-treasurer of the newly formed Massachusetts Independent Schools Association, says, "We are discriminatory in no way. We have that written into our bylaws."

But Brunco admits the schools are being established to avoid the busing program ordered by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity last year to integrate Boston's 162 public schools. About 26,000 pupils are bused under the order.

In addition to the 400 already attending South Boston Heights, 250 pupils are enrolled at Hyde Park Academy and 24 at Noddle Island Academy in East Boston. Four pupils at Hyde Park are black, all others at that school and the other schools are white.

Officials say the academies are for neighborhood children, and no pupils will be bused to any of them.

Since public schools opened last month, attendance has been about 75 per cent of the projected level of 86,456 pupils. School officials say 58 per cent of the pupils who are staying away from classes are white. This year for the first time more than half the pupils in Boston public schools are blacks and other minorities.

At South Boston Heights, administrators refuse to discuss the school or to let reporters inside. The president of the academy, Mary Binda, said many parents are sending their children to the private school because of racial conflicts at the public schools.

There have been walkouts by both black and white students and numerous incidents of fighting inside South Boston High School, in the center of a fiercely antibusing predominantly Irish neighborhood.

"There are all kinds of things going on inside South Boston High School," Mrs. Binda said. "There were all those police. Eggs are being thrown.

"Ninety per cent of the attention is on discipline and 10 per cent on education. Who wants to send their children to school when the kid won't get anything out of it?"

The South Boston academy has 13 teachers for 12 grades. The tuition at all the new schools will be about $500. None of them has been certified yet by the Boston School Department.

In a letter to the public schools superintendent, state Education Secretary Gregory Anrig warned, "The issue of approval of schools established solely to avoid Judge Garrity's order is important, since any assistance given by the School Department in such schools may be in violation of the order and could subject the School Department to the loss of state and federal money."

In an interview, Anrig said the schools "allege anyone may apply. We are watching them very carefully. It would take only one case of turning somebody down on the basis of race for the attorney general's office to bring legal action."

Citizens rally to ease refugee plight

Valley citizens are rallying to the support of the Vietnamese refugees resettled in Pomona a month ago under group sponsorships.

One group of residents has established a job bank in Pomona in hopes of landing jobs for some of the Vietnamese at salaries above the minimum $2.10 per hour, which they ay, does not meet requirements for the necessities of life for the new citizens.

Another family has established a furniture-collection center in Upland in hopes Upland residents, who so far have not been directly involved with the Vietnamese, will respond by supplying furnishings for nearly bare apartments the refugees occupy.

A retired Pomona school teacher, Anne Juhl, has volunteered to teach English classes one night a week to the Vietnamese.

These classes, according to Mary Abrams, a Pomona resident attempting to help the refugees, will be taught at the La Fiesta Apartments in North Pomona probably on Tuesday nights starting next week. Mrs. Van Coit, a Vietnamese who speaks English, will serve as an assistant to Miss Juhl, Mrs. Abrams said.

"By having Miss Juhl come to the Vietnamese, it solves one of our big problems," said Mrs. Abrams, "and that is transportation for the refugees."

Mrs. Bob Stinnett of 1335 N. San Antonio Ave., Upland, a volunteer with Pomona Red Cross Chapter and Community Emphasis for Southeast Asian Refugees (CESAR), (a group gathering clothing for the refugees at Behtel Baptist Church in Pomona), has opened her home as a furniture collection center. Her telephone number is 985-7552.

"We are asking the people of Upland to donate living room furniture, chests of drawers, dressers and beds," said Mrs. Stinnett.

Items may be delivered to her home daily between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., she said.

Items donated will be given to Vietnamese families living in the Sunflower Apartments in South Pomona.

Mrs. Stinnett has been collecting food for one of those same families from Upland and Ontario merchants, she said. Commodities most appreciated are eggs, sugar, tea, rice, fish and chicken.

The job bank, an ambitious effort designed to help the Vietnamese become self sufficient and stay off welfare, is operating through a volunteer telephone staff.

Prospective employers may call Mrs. Abrams daily at 593-3379 and Mrs. David Richmond daily at 629-4529.

"They cannot pay their rent and utilities, and have money for food for their families, on $2.10 an hour," said Mrs. Abrams, a neighbor who befriended the La Fiesta Apartment refugees the day they moved in.

MAKING A HIT

Cal Poly drama student Guillermo Martinez unloads on his instructor, Lew Crouse, who held a session on pie-throwing Thursday in preparation for the Drama Department presentation of "Merton of the Movies," a farce about Hollywood of the silent film days. Instruction included methods of hurling a cream pie, techniques for getting it in the face, and proper emotions to be registered when hit. The play will be presented Nov. 2-8 and 13-15.

PIE FACE

Mike Richey, although blindfolded, scores a direct hit on Mike Leonard as the two Cal Poly students revive the comic art of pie-throwing. The slapstick routine was a staple of comedians of the silent screen, including Harry Langdon, Buster Keaton, Charlie Chase, Harold Lloyd and others.

Car hits divider

Uplander killed in Barstow area

An Upland man was killed early Thursday when he was ejected from his car and landed on his head on the Barstow Freeway near Barstow.

Michael S. Sexton Sr., 46, of 104 Sinclair Ave., was declared dead at the scene. He suffered head injuries.

He was driving north on the freeway and apparently fell asleep, said highway patrolmen. His car hit a center divider which caused the door to pop open.

As the car veered back onto the roadway, the driver was ejected and landed on the pavement, added officers. The car continued on across the roadway and was later found by officers on the dirt shoulder. It had moderate damage.

Sexton was driving alone. The accident occurred shortly after midnight about 2½ miles south of Barstow.

The victim, a truck driver by profession, had resided in Upland for the past two years and previously in Montclair for 10 years.

Survivors include his widow, Mary Lou; three sons, Michael Jr. of Ontario and Jonathan and Edwin, both of Upland; two daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Ancone of Lancaster and Theresa Sexton of Upland; two brothers, Orville of Maui, Hawaii and Mark of Hollydale; one sister, Mrs. Sandra Moreno of La Puente and one grandson.

He was born in Connersville, Ind., on Oct. 3, 1929.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Upland. Burial will be at Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario. The Draper Mortuary in Ontario has charge of arrangements.

College exec pleads guilty in crash deaths

The chancellor of Pepperdine University pleaded guilty Thursday to a felony manslaughter charge in connection with the deaths of a Claremont woman and a Lincoln, Neb. woman in a fiery auto collision last Sept. 16.

M. Norvel Young, 59, appeared before Judge Mario L. Clinko in Santa Monica Superior Court. His plea was accepted by the judge, who ordered Young to return Dec. 4 for sentencing.

The charge carries a possible five years in state prison.

Young had originally been charged with two counts of felony manslaughter and one count of drunken driving in the accident at Malibu. The other charges were dropped, and Young remained free on $5,000 bail.

Beulah Harrison, 78, of 465 Carleton Ave., Claremont, died in the crash and Christine Dahlquist, 81, of Lincoln, Neb., died four days later in a Sherman Oaks hospital.

Highway patrolmen said a car driven by Alice L. Frische, 55, of Claremont, daughter of Mrs. Harrison, was hit in the rear by Young's car on the Pacific Coast Highway, at a traffic signal. The gas tank in Mrs. Fritsche's car exploded and both cars burst into falmes.

Both Young and Mrs. Fritsche were injured in the crash and hospitalized. Young suffered head injuries and multiple abrasions, and Mrs. Fritsche was seriously burned, but has recovered.

The Claremont women and Mrs. Dahlquist were headed for the J. Paul Getty Museum in Malibu on an outing when the accident occurred.

Water project debate winds up

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Correspondent

Proponents and opponents of Tuesday's $35 million Pomona Valley Municipal Water District election staged an 11th hour debate Thursday night at Glendora Library, unveiling more statistics than a similar meeting Wednesday night at Claremont.

Glendora's sponsoring League of Women Voters, unlike Claremont's which opposes the project, has remained neutral in the issue. League chapters normally act as information agencies on such issues but rarely endorse or condemn political issues.

Stumping for the proposal which would bring Northern California water to Glendora, San Dimas, La Verne, Claremont, Walnut, Diamond Bar, Rowland Heights and a trickle to Pomona, were Stan Kawa, PVMWD general manager, and Sam Shwetz, finance director of Glendora.

Opposing the bond issue were Sandy Baldonado, league water consultant and board member of Valencia Heights Water Co. in Covina, and Ballard Breaux, an industrial chemical salesman and Claremont resident.

Shwetz told the small audience that all city councils in the affected area have endorsed the PVMWD proposal and in all but Claremont where the vote was 3 to 1 with one abstention, votes were unanimous.

He also cited a dire need in Glendora at the project's northwestern terminus for fresh water. Glendora, Shwetz said, has just been ordered to cap two of its largest wells as health hazards. The city now relies on well water for 99 per cent of its needs but will require much more imported water once the two wells are closed, he said.

Kawa again outlined the five-year planning period for the project in which all affected community officials concurred after a lengthy period of negotiations over how the project would be financed.

Initially, Kawa said, the owner of a $40,000 home in Glendora will pay about 14 cents a month over what he is paying now in property taxes and/or water use fees.

Less energy locally would be expended under the new project than current methods of pumping water north from Fulton and Weymouth plants, he said. The new project would feed almost the entire area by gravity from the 1,700-foot elevation where the PVMWD would tap into the aqueduct from Northern California.

Mrs. Baldonado, a native New Yorker, cited her hometown as a prime example of a city "which has bonded itself into bankruptcy." She also objected to residents of the northern project area having to subsidize the more costly project in the southern area which encompasses Diamond Bar, Rowland Heights and Walnut.

But Kawa unveiled figures indicating that communities pay for services rendered and do not subsidize other communities. Cost per home-owner in Diamond Bar are much more than in Glendora based on the amount of water to be imported and facilities needed, Kawa said.

Mrs. Baldonado also said Diamond Bar, which is under development by Transamerica Corp., a subsidiary of Bank of America, should be able to develop its own water system with that large conglomerate behind it.

She also raised the spectre of collusion when she said the PVMWD would purchase land for a proposed reservoir between Pomona and Diamond Bar from Tres Hermanos Ranch.

"This isn't an old Spanish land grant ranch as the name implies, but a company in which the major owners are the Chandler family which owns the Los Angeles Times. That is why the Times is keeping such a low profile on the project and is publishing nothing about it," she charged.

But Kawa countered by stating that the PVMWD surveyed possible sites for the reservoir before agents knew who owned the land and learned who owners were only after selecting the site in Tonner Canyon.

Breaux cited a need for district wide water reclamation projects which could recycle waste water into portable water again.

Several members of the audience asked why PVMWD does not initiate peak load rates similar to other utilities such as phone companies which have cheaper rates in the evening. Kawa replied that this would be up to individual water companies and not the district. Several companies are studying such proposals for possible future use, he said.

Firm to display paramedic unit

Cole-Schaefer Ambulance service will display its paramedic unit to the public Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Doctors Hospital in Montclair.

Trained paramedics will be on hand to demonstrate the use of paramedic equipment and services now available to West End residents.

Visitors may also meet the emergency staff of Doctors Hospital, which is serving as the paramedic base in the West End communities.

Murder and rape trial drawing to conclusion

Both sides have rested in the murder-rape trial of 21-year-old Pomonan Gregory Thomas and the case has been recessed until Monday when opposing lawyers present their closing arguments to the jury.

The trial began late last month in Pomona Superior Court with Judge Robert M. Takasugi presiding. Thomas is accused of burglary, rape and murder in the stabbing April 7 of 78-year-old Tessie Fern Williams, a former missionary nurse, in her small home in Pomona.

Thomas maintained during the trial that he found the victim dead on the floor of the house when he was taken there by a friend to get the friend's color television set.

Four injured as two cars crash in Upland

Four persons were slightly injured Thursday evening when two cars collided broadside in the intersection of 16th Street and Euclid Avenue on rain slickened streets in Upland.

Christine Kishen, 18, of 354 Spencer St., Upland, was driving her car north on Euclid Avenue when it collided with a second car driven west on 16th Street by Leon Richard Iversen, 45, of 8825 Somerset St., Alta Loma, police said. Miss Kishen, Mrs. Joan Iversen, 42, her son Scott, 12, and another youth, Scott L. Schafroth, 13, of 5251 Sapphire St., Alta Loma, all complained of pain.

Mrs. Iversen was taken to the San Antonio Community Hospital for treatment of a tongue laceration. She was later released. Police said the other three injured refused medical treatment.

At the time of the accident the two streets were wet from a light rain that fell in the Upland area earlier.

Getting a drop on the weather

President Ford and Congress are overlooking major payoffs in dollar savings, energy conservation and increased food and mineral production that might be realized through rapid development of specialized space data gathering systems.

A study by the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences notes that space systems could immeasurably improve weather forecasts and make important reductions in the $500 million a year weather-caused cargo and shipping losses.

Space-based navigation could so improve routing that the U.S. shipping fleet could save appreciable amounts of the $450 million now spent each year for fuel in trans-Atlantic services alone.

An estimated $8 billion plus a year of time could be saved by instituting a worldwide agricultural survey using satellites, aircraft and ground-based systems — the savings coming from improved output, distribution and lower costs.

Space-based remote sensing, added to conventional data collection, could save a significant part of the $1.2 billion the current national inventory of water resources is expected to cost.

Only space monitoring can provide an accurate, cost-feasible ongoing checkup on air and water pollution and the shift of concentrations from one point to another on a sufficiently wide basis to be of value. Without satellites, it is difficult indeed to measure the effectiveness of area pollution control systems.

Without an appropriate vigorous satellite program it will be impossible to accumulate data in time to determine whether certain aerosol sprays are depleting the ozone layer and endangering our future health.

Space surveys are no substitute for prospecting. But they can, by mapping geological faults and other features, put the finger on hitherto unsuspected targets of opportunity for those seeking petroleum, metal ores and other minerals.

Example — A large-scale mosaic, made from satellite data has revealed previously unrecognized details of an east-west fault associated with the Colorado mineral belt, opening new exploration possibilities.

Satellite warning systems provide the only feasible possibility for assessment of danger sufficiently early to cope with a variety of serious floods and storms.

Satellite-provided data on rain and snowfall, snow cover and the rate of snow melting, are essential for the efficient operation of hydroelectric power plants and conservation of water supplies.

With these necessities staring them in the face, Mr. Ford and Congress have moved at a laggard's pace.

It is true the Landsat series of satellites, calculated to aid in the development of earth resources, is being expanded. But only after a major fight that threatened to kill off most practical aspects of the program, and, for a period, condemned the project to movement at a snail's pace.

Though the situation is better today, the size and scope of Landsat and allied programs needed to find the best approaches to the problems mentioned above are far from adequate if we are seriously concerned with energy, minerals and food supplies.

An egg by any color...

People who are paying premium prices for blue-shelled eggs sold by health food stores and other outlets can save their money, say nutritionists at the University of California's Co-operative Extension at Davis.

The blue eggs of Arucana chickens, a breed that originated in South America, are being promoted as containing no cholesterol and having up to 20 per cent more protein and iron than chicken eggs with brown or white shells.

In response to increasing public interest in the claimed health merits of the blue eggs, U of C researchers compared the cholesterol content of these eggs with that of ordinary eggs. The lower cholesterol claims were not substantiated, they report.

In fact, by all methods of measurement, Arucana eggs were slightly higher in cholesterol than conventional eggs, and no differences in protein content were found.

Thoughts

"As for yourself, you shall go to your fathers in peace; you shall be buried in a good old age." — Genesis 15:15.

"I shall grow old, but never lose life's zest, because the road's last turn will be the best." — Henry Van Dyke, American clergyman.

The public forum

Parity in 1977

Dear Editor:

After reading many of the letters to the editor which have been printed the past several months, I find myself compelled to make a few comments in behalf of Pomona firemen.

Being a fireman myself, I am definitely prejudiced. And, I am getting tired of reading all the erroneous statements made by various citizens indicating that Pomona's firemen are paid so much more money than Pomona's policemen.

We, as firemen, are the first to agree that Pomona's policemen should be compensated fairly for a job which is extremely hazardous. However, we would like to point out that fire is an undo burden that affects all Americans and constitutes a public health and safety problem of great dimension. Fire kills over 12,000 people, scars and injuries 300,000 annually in the United States. There is approximately two billion seven hundred million dollars worth of property destroyed in the United States each year. As of October 29, 1974—the 93rd Congress Act rated firefighting as the nation's most hazardous profession.

The Pomona firemen have always had parity with Pomona's policemen up until approximately four years ago, at which time each association signed different employe contracts. During the last four years, the firemen have been paid more than Pomona policemen for a period of only three months. This was due to our contract calling for the firemen to receive their annual raise in April rather than in July like the policemen. The most a Pomona firemen has ever received over a Pomona policemen during the past four years is $20.00 a month. At no time has it every been $280.00 per month as indicated in many articles run in your newspaper.

I would also like to point out that today the Pomona policemen are being paid more than the firemen. Parity between the two departments should be achieved at the end of our contract in 1977. We feel that Pomona policemen's job is extremely important, dangerous and a mounting task, which needs much public support. However, we feel that in no way should the citizens compare a policeman's job to a fireman's job and vice versa. Each is equally important for its own purpose.

I would like to agree, in part, with a lady from Claremont who had a letter published recently in your newspaper indicating that she was very much in favor of decreasing crime in Pomona. I, as well as all citizens of this area and surrounding areas, would like to join her in her support of local law enforcement personnel to decrease crime. I would like to add that the main purpose of a fire department is not to decrease crime, but to protect lives and property.

Let firemen, policemen, city administrators, public officials and each and every concerned citizen work together, rather than separately, to decrease the problems that face Pomona and surrounding communities today. — KELLY PYLE, Pomona Fireman

Bonds not justified

Dear Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Claremont opposes the Special Water Bond Proposal and urges a NO vote on Nov. 4.

The League of Women Voters has been studying Water Resources since the mid-fifties. The findings from these studies were used to develop specific and general positions that the League would support. All positions were derived through member concensus. An important and continuing objective of League activity is to update such positions. The League has supported much water legislation and many water ballot measures in the past, including the State Water Project, on the basis of our past and continuing research efforts.

During the past nine months the members of several Leagues within the Pomona Valley area have studied the area's water supply conditions and its population distribution, both present and expected future. We have also studied implications of a massive water project upon land-use decisions within the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District (PVMWD). The PVMWD has been kept abreast of the results of our studies. In addition we have interviewed Mr. Stan Kawa of PVMWD as well as many other officials from area water districts and private water supply companies. Members of the League study committee have attended PVMWD and Metropolitan Water District (MWD) public relations tours and have reported on these tours to the entire committee.

The Claremont League of Women Voters Board of Directors — the administrative and policy-making arm of the Claremont League — on the basis of our Water Resources and Land-Use positions voted overwhelmingly to oppose the Nov. 4 Water Bond Proposal. The Board determined that it was an ill-conceived and extravagant proposal. Though it will perhaps benefit some, it will have dire consequences for the majority of Pomona Valley residents.

Any proposal for water delivery should have a definite plan for its conservation and efficient use. We have seen no such plans in the PVMWD proposal. What information exists as to proposed pricing policies for water are inconsistent with conservation and efficiency and there have been no public discussions by the district concerning the use of water conserving devices to be used in new construction.

We have a precious natural supply of ground water in the water basins of the north PVMWD communities. Through careful management of this water it should continue to be our cheapest source of water in the future. In the Bond Proposal there is an emphasis on increased dependence on imported Northern California water rather than inclusion of proposals to improve the quantity and quality of existing ground water. The League rejects the scare tactics used by the PVMWD on the nitrate content of this ground water and faults them for inadequate consideration given to nitrate removal. (Studies are now being conducted at UC Riverside and several private engineering firms. Harvey Mudd College has applied for a nitrate study grant.) It is the League's position that investments to import more water should await the results of the nitrate research.

Water planning should be coordinated with other planning functions such as social services, transportation, air quality, land-use and education. It has historically been the case in California, that the provision of added water resources, especially in those areas that are less developed and when financed heavily by taxes, as with PVMWD's proposed method of financing, that rapid growth has been encouraged in many areas that are often considered to be unsuitable or undesirable for such growth. Green belts in Tonner Canyon and the San Jose Hills — designated as open space by The Regional Planning Commission, might well be threatened areas when an excess water supply is made available to this Valley. Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG), The Claremont Environmental Quality Board, and the Claremont League oppose this Water Bond Proposal because our already polluted air cannot support the growth that this project may encourage.

Members of the Claremont League have attended many meetings at which the PVMWD has discussed their Bond Proposal. Many conflicting and inconsistent arguments by the Bond proponents have been heard. These inconsistencies were related to such issues as population projections, cost of the water project to users and/or property owners, the quality of the proposed imported water as compared to Colorado River Water or existing local water, and the amount of energy required to import any water.

The taxpayer's dollar is limited. Extravagant water projects are not necessary at this time. Adequate quality and quantity of water is available to Pomona Valley for the foreseeable future. Let's get on with a fight for some of our pressing needs such as public transportation and improved air quality.

The League of Women Voters of Claremont recommends a NO vote on Nov. 4. — Judy Wright, President, Claremont League of Women Voters

Case never solved

Dear Editor:

Yes, we want to be counted. We lost our daughter in a crime a year ago and the case was never solved. Nobody knows better than we do the heartache and anxiety a family goes through and you can only imagine the pain, anguish and fear the one involved must have experienced. You never get over it — only learn to live with it.

We have lived in Pomona many years and like our city. We hope to live here the rest of our lives. But we certainly don't like the crimes that are going on here now and having to live in fear all the time. Anything that can be done to prevent this and bring Pomona back to be the nice city it used to be, we are all for it. — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall

Respect restored

Dear Editor:

My family has lived in Pomona for three generations. I always loved to hear the stories about Pomona in the "old days". What will I tell my children? About the shooting at Jack-In-TheBox? I would much rather talk about how the community built Sharkie Park out of a small corner lot. I realize that this type of story is hard to come by but dig them out, encourage them, play them up!

I won't say that your publication prints too many crime stories but I will say that it doesn't follow up on crime, such as reporting jail sentences, etc. Hearing the "unglamorous side" of a crime may discourage others.

I'm glad you are encouraging comments on this subject. I had lost a great deal of the respect I had for your publication because of what I felt was slanted reporting during the police negotiations. Your editorial made me feel that maybe you aren't so bad after all. An editorial, after all, is at best a feeble attempt at stopping crime, but it is an attempt. For this, I congratulate you. — SLW, La Verne

The 'power' people

Dear Editor:

Great editorial. It is about time that someone is printing the known facts. We live in Chino and are very much concerned with the "crime problem" facing our neighborhood city, Pomona.

We are thankful that the P.B. is taking some action to get the public support to curtail the rise in crime. Hopefully, the "right people" will also support you and realize the extent of this problem. The general public is supporting you, but how about the people who have the "power" to do something? — Mr. and Mrs. A.V., Chino

No plea bargaining

Dear Editor:

I for one am fed up with a judicial system that puts felons back on the streets because of technicalities and loopholes in the laws. The bleeding hearts have had their say, "rehabilitate the poor soul" and the crime rate continues to soar.

We need a swift due process of law, vigorous enforcement and sentences carried out. Scrap the parole system. Until we get some stern judges in the courts who will convict felons to the letter of the law, I feel crime will continue to soar. The only people punished these days are the victims of crimes. Let's do away with plea bargaining. — R. T. Betz, La Verne

Stop the downtrend

Dear Editor:

Pomona is one of the nicest locations to live in California. We have been here forty years. We have seen the city grow to one that was a model for others. We hope the officials and citizens of today can turn the downtrend to one of spendor in the near future. — Mr. and Mrs. E. Van Der Vliet, Pomona

Just in jest

In a way history is repeating itself. Nero fiddled while Rome burned; and now a bunch of our nation's top bankers are fiddling around trying to find answers while New York City is teetering on the verge of bankruptcy. The trouble is we are apparently calling on the wrong experts for advice. I say the man for that "Save New York City" job is Hubert Horatio Humphrey. If he can settle his '72 campaign debts for as little as 3 cents on the dollar, as recently reported in our newspapers, where could we find a more logical city savior? His financial genius, I feel sure, would be more than equal to the task of solving New York's monetary problems.

Assassins will find a way

By RALPH de TOLEDANO

WASHINGTON — With supreme illogic, the two assassination attempts on President Ford have inspired the anti-gun propagandists to a supreme effort. The culprits to them are not the malevolent or deranged people whose answer to all problems is the death of a leader but the guns they carry in their hands.

Eliminate the guns and you will eliminate assassination, they argue. They forget that assassins have always found lethal means at their disposal. Had there been no guns available in the two attempts on Mr. Ford, a bomb would have done just as well — and though it may not have reached its target, others would have been killed or maimed.

The invention of gunpowder did not usher in or increase violence in the world.

In their zeal to deprive Americans of firearms, the anti-gun propagandists conveniently forget that Switzerland whose crime statistics are among the lowest in the world, requires every able-bodies male citizen to own a rifle. They do not tell you that New York, with the toughest gun laws in the country, has among the highest rates of violence, whereas other states with no gun laws are at the bottom of the scale.

To further the argument, columnist William Raspberry recently stated in the Washington Post that there are "some 100 million firearms, including 25 million handguns" in the United States. Raspberry did not invent that preposterous figure.

You hear it everywhere, just as you heard years ago that there were 100,000 American draft dodgers in Canada, a figure based on press room gossip which had multiplied the actual number by about 20.

I doubt that the actual number of firearms can be determined. But the "100 million" so casually tossed out means that — given two children and one woman to every adult male — every man in American over 21 owns two guns. How many of the true number, however, include war souvenirs — many of them non-operative or lacking the ammunition which makes their existence significant — no one knows.

The point is also made that "70 per cent of all handgun deaths involve family, lovers and friends, either through accidents or through passion" — a statistic which I have nowhere seen documented in national homicide reports.

Even if true, the number of accidental handgun deaths is microscopic compared to the nation's accident toll, whether on the highways or in the bathtub. The bathtub is, in fact, one of the most dangerous places to be in, but I have yet to hear of any attempts to outlaw it.

What the anti-gun propagandists will not face up to is that the attempts on President Ford's life had no causal relation to the incidence of firearms but were the symptoms of a sickness which is abroad in the land. That illness is fed by the overwhelming publicity, the reams of "analytical" or sentimental copy about the perpetrator in the electronic and printed media.

This hero worship in reverse — this modern version of sob-sister journalism — has led to a tripling of the number of threats against the President since the first attempt — from the "normal" 100 to 320 in the first 20 days of September.

The kind of publicity given the Moores and the Fromes makes every frustrated paranoid see himself in the headlines, the subject of national attention.

The sickness runs deep in our contemporary society. For more than a decade, much of the media and the academic community has justified political violence and, in some cases, even applauded it. If thrashing a university campus or setting half a city ablaze is considered legitimate "protest" by our intellectual leaders, then why not carry this legitimacy a step further by snuffing out presidential life now and then?

If every man is a law unto himself, and this is what we have been encouraged to believe, then why not dramatize "protest" even further by taking a shot at Mr. Ford?

That's what the rise in violence is about — and it will find its outlet in spite of the most stringent gun laws the congressional mind can devise.

Widow and child get back S.S. pay

I am a young widow with a 6-year-old daughter to raise. My husband took his own life about four years ago.

For a while I collected Social Security for my daughter and myself.

About two years ago I decided it was time to go out on my own. I had been living with my parents for over two years.

I took a key punch course and started looking for a job. After several months I found one.

The first few months I enjoyed my job even though the pay was not very good. Raises and job advances were promised but did not come through.

I started looking for another job and found one with an insurance company that paid $100 more to start with. When I told the firm I was working with, I was promised the extra $100 within a few weeks if I would stay. I only got part of that amount.

Then another girl who had never done that type of work was hired at higher pay. I was so unhappy that I naturally did not do too good a job so I was finally laid off. I had planned to quit anyway.

After a couple of weeks I went to try to collect unemployment. The company I had worked for was called and some untrue statements were made by the old boss. I was told I was not eligible.

When I went to the Social Security office to see if I could receive benefits, the people there said they thought I could but it would take about six weeks to get payments started. That was almost three weeks ago.

As I had applied for Social Security I was not eligible for welfare although I could get food stamps and Medi-Cal. — C. Y., Pomona.

A few days after you sent us the above letter, we got another from you saying you had received a check for $199, about $1,300 less in retroactive pay than you had been led to expect.

The problem seemed to be that Social Security had your earnings listed as $5,376 for this year until your job ended in June. You have made only $2,263, you told us.

After we talked with a Social Security representative about your case and confirmed that the statement of your earnings was incorrect, you received a check for $804.

According to your estimate, the retroactive check should have been larger.

You thanked us for our checking so far and asked us to continue.

We will do so but the answer will go to you rather than coming to us.

The federal Privacy Act which became effective last month has caused the Social Security Administration to decide that inquiries coming from Action Line and similar agencies will be investigated as before but the response will go to you.

The local office has asked us to continue to forward complaints so that knotty problems can be unsnarled. We will.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, November 1, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's to your advantage to make compromises today when conditions call for them. Be the first to show willingness to cooperate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't be nice to a friend today just because you expect something in return. If you're insincere, your pal will be aware of it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) At a social gathering today someone may tell you of a glowing opportunity you can get in on. Chances are it's grossly exaggerated.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try not to be overly protective of those in your charge today. It's best to let them stand on their own feet.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Take pains to be realistic in your evaluations today, or your optimism will lead you down the garden path.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're still not out of the woods financially. Count your pennies carefully again today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't be too easily influenced today. Just because someone has bigger ideas, it doesn't necessarily follow that they are better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It will take more than just a material gesture to help one you're concerned about. He needs a compassionate listener as well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're planning something special this evening, stay away from the spots that draw large crowds. Go somewhere cozy and intimate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's a good time to reassess your values to determine whether goals you're seeking are worth all steps required to achieve them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You will be far more appealing today if you tone your deeds down a bit rather than boast about them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be doubly sure those you're involved with businesswise today are as ethical about everything as you are. Don't be afraid to ask questions.

YOUR BIRTHDAY Nov. 1, 1975

Be extra alert for opportunities this coming year. They could come from the least suspected sources. Don't sit on your ideas. Discuss them with persons who know how to put them on the market.

Ann Landers

As 'helpless' as you want to be

Dear Ann Landers: Our 27-year-old son is a drug addict. He lives at home and refuses work. The rugs and furniture are full of cigaret holes and his father and I are afraid he'll burn the house down one of these nights — us with it.

This boy has been on and off methadone for several months and can't remember his own name. The doctors have given him prescriptions for Valium, plus a lot of other stuff. The expense is breaking us. Our son has money on his person, but keeps asking us to pay for everything.

My husband is sick and wants to retire. Where are the laws in the country anyway? Why must aged parents be forced to keep a son who is in such terrible shape and makes their life a living hell? Lord knows we deserve some peace in our old age. How can we get it? — Helpless And Miserable

Dear Friends: Let's start with the laws in this country. Nowhere does it say parents must keep a 27-year-old son in their home. You could have kicked him out legally six years ago. Maybe that's where you made your first mistake.

There are many drug abuse clinics in the U.S. and Canada and your son should be in one of them. I urge you to call the County Mental Health Society and ask for specific instructions. You are only as "Helpless" as you want to be.

Dear Ann Landers: Bravo for "It's Over Robert Redford." She's got my vote! It's high time the tables were turned. Usually it's the woman who pays for having an affair with a married man. Almost always SHE gets tossed aside after he's had his fling.

My story is a lulu. Against my better judgment, I kept company with a married man whose wife was an invalid. He kept telling me he had to stay with her because he'd feel like a heel leaving a handicapped woman. Every time we were together he swore he loved me madly. I admit I fell for him like a ton of coal. He was one of the most attractive men I'd ever met in all my life.

Six months ago his wife passed away suddenly, from, of all things, the flu! Though he repeatedly declared his undying love for me, his phone calls became fewer and his "out of town" business trips became more frequent. I telephoned his home early one evening to cancel a date. To my utter surprise I learned that the female who answered his phone had been living with him for several months. He "loved" her, too, and SHE also thought he was "out of town." (Obviously he had a third dame in the woodwork.)

I did not cancel my date, but went to his home instead. Number Two and I put his blankets on sideways and poured salt between the sheets. We hung the pictures upside down and the potted plants looked splendid in his shower. We mismatched his socks, rolled them neatly as if properly paired and replaced them in his dresser drawer. Then we sprinkled itching powder in his shorts. I kept my date with him that evening and we had a lovely time. I said goodnight at my door.

Number Two moved out the following day and neither one of us has heard from him since. — Got Even In Canoga Park

Dear Got Even: Even though you live in L.A., you took Chicago Mayor Daley's advice: "Don't get mad — get even."

Thanks for the lulu.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

No alumni news is good news

With the coming of autumn, 1975, I am greeted in my mail box by the same glad tithings that greeted me in autumn 1965 and 1955 and so on back to my college graduation — that slick little magazine called the Alumni News, a glib compendium of chatty tidbits about people I never heard of and pressurized dunnings for "the alumni fund."

Once in the dear, dead days beyond recall (but not if the alumni secretary has anything to say about it) I attended a small New England college for four or five years. The Palls of Ivy.

I paid (or my father did) spectacular membership fees for the privilege of taking Economics I and Modern European History, playing football, and dancing with Smith girls. When my sentence was up, I received an honorable discharge in the form of a Latin screed (the only thing I could read was my name) and was sent out into the world to seek my fortune (which I am still seeking).

For reasons best known to the alumni secretary, my sojourn on the tree-shaded campus gave the college an open lien on my interest, loyalty and pocketbook.

To be sure this non-existent flame of love for the old alma mater doesn't flicker out, the college sends me a greeting card each Christmas; the class secretary (whom I have never heard of) sends me jocular arm-twisters and endless letters about people I have long since forgotten; the board of trustees sends election notices; the president sends annual reports; and the alumni secretary sends me the Alumni News.

There's hardly room in my post box for the "Occupant" mail.

The alumni news of any college is an amalgam of building reports, campus activities (Football Team Ends 2-9 Season) and notices about hundreds of people you never heard of and all of whom seem to be doing better than you.

"J. Aloysius McFiscal, '40, has been appointed vice president in charge of returned items at Croesus National Bank." And, "C. James Lustmore, '42, recently published his third historical novel." Or, "Robert Atterbury Branch, '39, has been named assistant State Department Under Secretary for Not-Too-Far Eastern Affairs."

Where are all the clods, the nogoodniks, the great guys I went to college with? What is the latest word on us bums? Whatever happened to Bogie Blair, who made college a four-year drunk? What's the word on "Lover Boy" Hitchcock who majored in Mt. Holyoke? Has the alumni secretary heard from Stinky Campbell who locked the dean of men in the women's lounge at junior prom?

The Alumni News should have a few notices about the guys who flopped. "Roy Van Grundy, '38, is out on parole after a successful four-year term in the state pen for armed robbery." And "Bill Standforth, '41, was fired recently from his job as assistant truck driver for the Sleazy Construction Company." Or, "Tommy Warren, '40, has been awarded a gold pin for 25 years as night watchmen at Munster State Cemetery."

Well, every barrel will have a few rotten apples in it — bank-presidents, doctors, state senators — and I propose a more tolerant attitude toward those of our classmates who made messes of their lives. Class survey: do bank presidents outnumber bank robbers in the Class of '40?

Dr. Lamb

Will soft water harm health?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some years ago we had a famous brand name water softening system installed. Since then my wife has developed a high blood pressure condition. I have been bothered with angina pectoris.

A visiting relative would not drink the water from our tap, but would use only the untreated water from the outside hydrant. She claimed it was bad for our condition and would cause high blood pressure and other heart ailments.

It seems that somewhere an extensive research project came up with statistics verifying this idea. Has this been found to be true? Is it bad to drink water that has been treated by commercial water softeners?

DEAR READER — There is some truth in the story. Some research studies have shown that there is a higher incidence of heart attacks in individuals drinking soft water as compared to people drinking hard water. However, a statistical study by the UCLA School of Public Health in Los Angeles found no relationship at all.

One explanation suggested was that soft water acts on the plumbing and allows cadmium and perhaps other toxic metals to be dissolved into the soft water. This apparently does not happen with hard water. If that theory is correct and there is increased heart disease in people using soft water, you can avoid the problem by always running a lot of water before you take any to drink. This will avoid getting water that has stood in the pipes and dissolved cadmium. If the theory is incorrect then running water will not help.

The theory goes on to state that cadmium and heavy metals dissolved in the soft water that has stood in the peipes may damage the kidneys which in turn leads to high blood pressure. High blood pressure increases the incidence of heart and vascular disease.

These observations do not prove that your water softener has caused your problems. Both high blood pressure and angina pectoris heart disease are common enough from other causes that you may well have developed these problems, anyway.

Some home water softeners do cause a lot of sodium to be left in the water. People on salt restricted diets cannot tolerate this water well.

In view of all these factors, I think it is better for people to use ordinary tap water for drinking purposes. My second best recommendation is to use bottled, distilled water for drinking purposes. Keep it in the refrigerator.

Home water softeners are very useful to prevent the accumulation of lime deposits in plumbing. They can be used for water in the home for all other purposes, such as in dishwashers, for showers, washing and whatever household needs you have.

I notice from your letter that you live in San Antonio, Texas. Don't you know you have one of the best and safest water supplies of any large city in the United States? It is naturally purified through the Edwards natural aquifier. It seems a shame to spoil such good natural drinking water with a home softener.

Fourth-suit forcing is a modern invention. We hope it will never replace horse and buggy bidding.

North's two-diamond call is an example. He didn't know what to bid so he tried two diamonds to see what might happen.

This caused South to bid two and three notrump and North had to decide what to do. Finally, he passed in the hope that South could handle the diamond suit by himself. It turned out that South could.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the suit. South won and led the queen of spades covered by West's king and dummy's ace. At this point South decided to take an unusual safety play. He led a low heart from dummy and played the eight spot from his own hand.

This safety play cost him an overtrick, but South did not care. The game was rubber bridge and he was interested in being as sure of his contract as possible.

NERO

Q. "Did Nero really play the fiddle while Rome burned?"

A. What historians think he played was an instrument called the lyre fidicula. They say he was about 35 miles away from the fire when it broke out. He hot-footed it into Rome immediately to boss the firefighters and help those burned out. Then he set up his headquarters in the Trans-Tiber area which remained clear of the blaze. And one night observers reportedly saw him on the roof of his pavilion, watching the flames on the skyline. They say he picked up his fidicula and sang a variation of the blues about it all. I gather the word fidicula led to our word fiddle.

Still, it's sad. This abandonment of our literature comes to mind wistfully now and then, usually during the TV commercials at half time.

The post office can deliver mail more quickly because of the zip code. There is a five-number zip code for every address.

Here's how it works: The United States and its possessions are divided up into 10 large parts. Each part has a number between 0 and 9.

Suppose the zip code on the letter you mail is 60635. The first number, "6," tells the postal clerk that the letter goes to the midwest part of the United States. The next two numbers, "06," narrows it down to Chicago, Ill. The last two numbers, "35," pinpoint the local post office.

Zip-coded letters eliminate many handlings.

Before ZIP the letter would have gone through many sortings as it was passed from one large city to another across the country.

By reading the zip code numbers, post office workers not only can route the letter more directly to their destination, but sort them more quickly as well.

Always use your ZI number on your mail.

Tet offensive figures juggled

WASHINGTON — The conscience-stricken ex-CIA analyst, Sam Adams, told Congress the truth about the false estimates spread by U.S. officials before the 1968 Tet offensive.

His testimony has produced a controversy over juggled statistics. Other intelligence experts have called it all "a numbers game." But the numbers, tragically, were flesh and blood. By official count, 920 Americans died in the Tet attack.

Sam Adams' revelations have led the House Intelligence Committee to investigate the alleged role of Lt. Gen. Daniel Graham, director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, in distributing the phony figures.

It's a story we happen to know something about. Ten weeks before the Tet offensive, we learned about the secret dispute over intelligence estimates. We reported on Nov. 30, 1967, that Maj. Gen. Joseph McChristian, the Army intelligence chief in Vietnam, had been transferred to Texas for reporting higher estimates than the Pentagon liked.

"McChristian's estimates of communist infiltration and recruitment," he wrote, "were a constant source of annoyance to Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, who thought they were higher than they ought to be . . .

"Intelligence specialists, who worked with McChristian, have told this column that his estimates were conservative. He insisted upon hard information and would never resort to guess-work . . . There was subtle pressure on McChristian from the Pentagon to reduce his estimates, which he refused to do."

The Tet explosion convinced us that the military brass had made a ghastly miscalculation. We flew to the battle scene to seek the evidence. In Vietnam, we obtained a confidential, pre-Tet report which badly underestimated communist strength. "It is now clear," we were able to write, "that our policy-makers have been basing their war plans upon faulty intelligence."

We quoted at length from the confidential report, which concluded: "We believe the tide has turned and the enemy strength is on the decline. There is evidence of faltering morale and discipline among the southern enemy — the true Viet Cong. There are fewer but significant signs that the northern invader is likewise weakening."

We were shown other corroborative documents in Vietnam, but nervous sources asked us not to quote them. Some of these have now been made available to us.

They show how Washington not only suppressed McChristian's unwanted warnings but encouraged the Saigon ccommand to sell a rosy outlook to the press. Saigon came back in October, 1967, with plans for a massive press campaign to portray the enemy as faltering.

"We will hold on-the-record briefings," cabled Saigon, "whenever some point can be proved by captured documents . . . concise, hard-hitting briefings designed to allay credibility problems."

The Saigon authorities sought to prove "that the enemy is fast losing control of the people for his side, his recruitment has dropped off sharply, he is having food shortages and he is having serious problems collecting VC taxes."

The Saigon proposals went so far that Washington cautioned in a secret "joint State/Defense message" in November, 1967: "We are concerned lest our credibility be tarnished by overstatement of our case. While some pieces of the arguments can stand unchallenged, others are more vulnerable because of the fragmentary nature of the evidence."

Still, Gen. William Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, sent the Pentagon a secret, year-end report promising: Through careful exploitation of the enemy's vulnerabilities and application of our superior firepower and mobility, we should expect our gains of 1967 to be increased manyfold in 1968."

Exactly 29 days later, the communists, far from faltering, stunned Washington by attacking South Vietnam's main centers during the Tet holiday. McChristian had been right, his critics wrong. Their miscalculations were paid for with American blood. Yet he remained in Texas, and they continued to direct the war effort.

Now Sam Adams, whose CIA intelligence confirmed McChristian's estimates, has reopened the episode. We can furnish the House Intelligence Committee with documents supporting Adams' testimony. We also suggest that the committee invite McChristian to testify.

With the help of Saga magazine, we located the retired general who spoke out publicly for the first time. He told us how he organized military intelligence from the ground up, beginning in 1965. He wound up with the best intelligence, he said, "we ever had on the battlefield."

An operation, codenamed Cedar Falls, brought in key enemy documents and personnel throughout 1966-67. As early as the spring of 1967, almost a year before the Tet invasion, U.S. military intelligence had sufficient data to predict the offensive, McChristian contended.

He forwarded the information to the top command which took his information "very seriously," he related. But over his protests, he was transferred to Texas in June, 1967.

The Tet offensive should not have been a surprise, he told us. "We had a very good picture of the enemy's strength and plans."

Footnote: General Westmoreland, despite his misleading 1967 year-end report, told us he agreed with McChristian. The Tet offensive, he said, was in no way a surprise. "We almost called the date," he said. He even tried to intercept the attackers before they reached Saigon but couldn't because of the jungle expanse, he said. He is also eager, he said, to have the truth about Tet made public.

California drug center of nation?

SAN DIEGO (AP) — California may be turning into the golden state connection for drug pushers throughout the United States, says a Mexican police official.

Enrique Garcia Garay of the Federal Judicial Police said recently that California is becoming the center for the distribution of heroin and cocaine coming from Mexico and other Latin American countries.

"Most of the heroin comes directly to California," he told a state senate subcommitte. "So does the cocaine from Ecuador, Colombia and Peru.

Home and garden

It's that time for camellias

Once again it is camellia time in California . . .

In the Golden State, Sasanquas, the delicate beauties of the camellia clan, begin to bloom in the early fall. Blanketed in single or double, often fragrant blooms of white to almost red, Sasanquas reign in regal beauty. They thrive in more sun than other camellia varieties, making them well-suited to a multitude of garden uses.

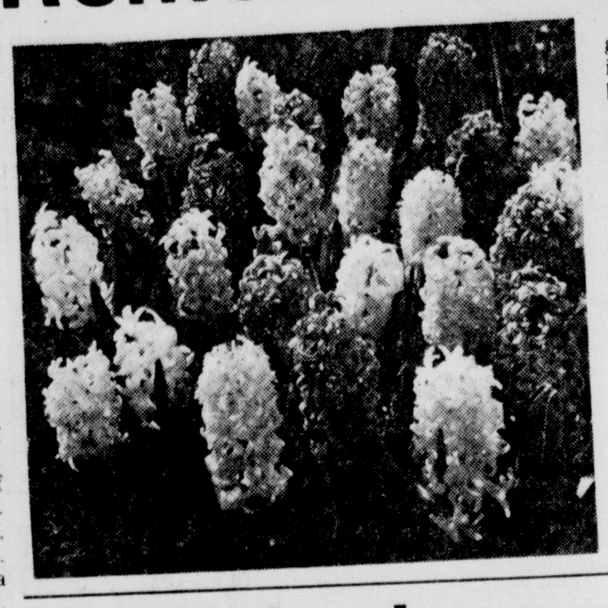
Sansanquas give a tip performance when planted in a basket or tub, used against a fence or as a ground cover.

Espaliered, their glossy leaves add dimension to flat surfaces. In a raised bed, the foliage tumbles over the edge — in an interesting fashion. At ground level, certain Sasanqua varieties for a unique, if not dense, cover in semi-shaded areas.

While Sasanquas are at their peak, the Japonicas break into the action. The well-known Japonicas provide the widest range of colors and flower forms — from purest white to deep red and bi-color. Flower forms range from open centered, peony-type flowers to many-petaled, tight formal doubles.

The size of Japonicas — up to twenty feet, suggests background usage or display as tubbed, patio sized trees. Blooming through the coldest part of the year, from late fall to early spring, Japonicas are the center ring stars of the annual camellia show.

Remember hyacinths for Christmas



This Christmas, you can give the living gift of spring to your family — with hyacinths in bloom!

Hyacinths — in reds and whites and with their beautiful pastel shades of light blues, pinks and yellows — will provide the essence of springtime fragrance throughout the winter holiday season, a breathtaking forecast of the future spring. Their softly sparkling hues will decorate your livingroom with spring beauty.

Here's how to go about creating a very special Christmas gift of potted spring hyacinths — not only for your own family, but for treasured friends or colleagues. All you have to do is follow a technique known as forcing and lend nature a hand in bringing hyacinth bulbs to bloom indoors. The key is timing — the bulbs must be planted now in the fall to bud at Christmas.

First, select top quality bulbs: large, firm, clean and free from scars.

Select plain containers that you can decorate with a festive Christmas flourish — a simple pot of clay, plastic or ceramic can be attractively decorated when you apply your own good imagination and design sense with paint and paper. Be sure the container has a drainage hole, and it must be twice as deep as the bulbs for roots to develop.

Light soil is best for potting. Combine equal parts of garden or potting soil, peat and sand, or vermiculite.

Now, cover the drainage hole with pieces of broken clay or stones and fill the pot half-way with the soil mixture.

Place as many hyacinths bulbs in the pot as you can for an elegant growth of blooms. The bulbs should be set close together but not touching, about one-half inch below the container's rim. Or if you want a change of pace, select one four or five-inch diameter bulb and plant one to a pot — so you can have many individual pots to set in different rooms for festive touches of color.

Once you've placed the bulbs in the pot, fill with soil and water well.

At this point, you're ready to give the bulbs the "cold treatment," creating an artificial winter to help force them into bloom. Bulbs should be stored for approximately 12 weeks in a cool, dark place 35 degrees to 50 degrees. A cellar, garage or outdoor shed is fine. Apartment dwellers can use a covered box on a window sill or a cold closet or even the refrigerator.

Pots rooted indoors must be kept in complete darkness and watered thoroughly. If you have an outdoor garden, place the pots in a pit — deep enough for containers, a covering of three inches of sand and six inches of soil. Cover the bed with hay, straw, leaves or other mulch at the first sign of freezing weather.

After about 12 weeks of the "cold treatment" you're ready to bring the bulbs indoors. Bulbs ready to be transferred will have shoots about two inches high and you should be able to see the roots through the drainage hole.

Bring the pots indoors and place them in a cool area and water until moist to the touch.

When you see leaves and buds appear, move the pots to a warmer area with a temperature of about 65 to 70 degrees and continue to water.

Throughout all of these steps, three points are especially important:

— Water the bulbs regularly.

— Be sure the containers are well drained.

— Do not try to force the bulbs into flower before 12 weeks of cooling.

Hyacinths come in early and late blooming varieties. Among the early bloomers you'll want to consider for Christmas gifts are: The Pink Pearl (pink); Ostara (pansy violet, light purple blue); Bismark (methyl violet); Anna Marie (light pink) and L'Innocences (ivory white) and Jam Bos (red).

All of them will give you the sparkle of spring at Christmas time.

Last year the Visiting Nurse Association of Long Beach — a United Crusade-supported agency — provided skilled nursing care to 1,182 persons confined to their homes by illness.

Here's the answer

Q. — I would like to try using one of the polyurethane varnishes, which I understand are exceptionally durable and water-resistant. Can I apply it to unfinished wood or must I apply a primer first?

A. — Polyurethane varnishes generally do not require a primer. However, there are variations in the manufacture of different brands, so read the container label carefully to determine that you do not have a brand with unusual characteristics.

Q. — One of your readers asked about marbleizing wood furniture. I have discovered an easy method. Brush on the antiquing glaze as usual. Lay a large piece of plastic, such as a laundry bag, over the entire surface to be marbleized. Pick it up. Presto — a marble finish. If not satisfied with the first attempt, brush the glaze out and keep at it until you have the finish desired. You can even try squishing the plastic around gently with your finger tips.

A. — Thanks.

INTRODUCING CLASSIC 99™

A breakthrough in latex wall paint! It combines the features you want most in one premium paint.

New Classic 99 from Sherwin-Williams.

It's the best latex wall paint we've ever made. In fact, we think it's the first truly premium latex wall paint on the market. Because it's the first latex wall paint that combines the features you want most.

It covers better. It covers like no latex wall paint we've ever made before (and coming from Sherwin-Williams, that's quite a statement!).

It's scrubbable. It's the most scrubbable latex wall paint we've ever made. So you can use it in rooms where the walls take abuse, and scrub it clean time and time again.

It's so tough and long-lasting, you can use it on wood trim. Classic 99 is so tough and so long-lasting, you can not only use it in any room in your house, you can even use it on wood trim.

It's available in 679 colors. Unlike most so-called premium paints that give you a very limited choice of colors, Classic 99 is available in hundreds of colors.

We guarantee your satisfaction. With a paint this good, we know you'll be satisfied. "This latex wall paint is the result of extensive research and testing by The Sherwin-Williams Company. We guarantee your satisfaction in the use of this product, or your purchase price will be cheerfully refunded."

New Classic 99. Available only at Sherwin-Williams Decorating Centers, including the one near you.

$11.99

At $11.99 a gallon, it's a great value. Especially if you can't afford to waste time and money on cheaper paint. Classic 99 is the best-covering latex wall paint Sherwin-Williams has ever made. And because it's so scrubbable and long-lasting, you paint less often.

Clean up your garden in the fall

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A good garden cleanup in the fall will go a long way toward controlling disease and insect problems next year. The reason is that many disease organisms and bugs overwinter in garden debris.

Clean them out in the fall and they won't be there to haunt you next spring. If you know that debris includes diseased or insect-ridden plants, don't put it in your compost pile. Burn it if possible or bury it in plastic bags (or without) as far from the garden as possible.

Remember to pick up dropped fruit and leaves under trees because scab and other diseases will overwinter in the leaves.

Why not make a map of your garden as you clean it up? This will hlep you plan next year's planting, assisting in arranging for crop rotation, always a good thing to do. Rotate crops from one place to another so that closely related items susceptible to the same diseases won't be attacked so easily.

Other Fall Chores

You're not through with the chores after the first heavy frost takes its toll. Get out there and:

Protect your rose bushes against winter. Mulch strawberries and raspberries; clean up dead iris and peony foliage; clean refuse from the vegetable garden, fertilize, add organic matter and plow under.

If you picked mature green tomatoes, wrap them in newspaper and store in a cool basement. Many will ripen. Or you can hang the entire plant upside down in the basement where fruit will continue to ripen for a while.

Store your cabbage, squash and other vegetables in a cool cellar. You can leave parsnips, Jerusalem agtichokes and carrots in the ground, digging as needed, as long as you mulch them well.

Protect your young fruit trees and ornamentals from cold and rodent damage with hardware cloth or plastic cylinders (made for such use) around trunks.

Water evergreens thoroughly to help offset a dry winter.

It will soon be time to shop for early-flowering Camellias. Sasanqua Camellias are a source of October color in the garden.

Enjoy home-grown vegetables during the cool season. Plant in the vegetable garden: carrots, beets, turnips, lettuce, onions, peas, cabbage and cauliflower.

Plant plenty of spring-blooming bulbs in pots and other containers to provide your garden and indoor rooms with portable color.

When planting annuals for winter and early-spring bloom, give them a warm, sunny bed. Hurry to plant calendulas, pansies, violas, stocks, snapdragons and Iceland poppies, so you can enjoy prolonged color from these free-blooming favorites.

Roses may still be going strong, but don't feed them now. You don't want a lot of new growth with winter weather just ahead.

Perennials may still be planted this month and next. Seedlings of the most popular perennials are available now in nursery flats and inexpensive to plant.

Remember Anemones and Ranunculus when you start to plant spring-blooming bulbs.

Quick color can be enjoyed this month from Lantanas. Give them the sunniest exposure you have.

Something should be done about hammering pipes

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The entire water supply system in your house is placed under heavy strain when there is a pounding or hammering sound as a faucet is shut off. If this condition is permitted to persist over a period of time, severe damage can result, not the least of which is the bursting of a pipe.

Sometimes it is difficult to take immediate action to solve the problem, in which case every member of the family should be instructed to shut off the offending faucet very slowly each time it is used. This will eliminate or minimize the noise, but it should by no means be used as an excuse to avoid a solution indefinitely.

The condition is known as water hammer. It occurs when there are insufficient air chambers or when one or more of them has become filled with water instead of air. An air chamber is roughly a piece of pipe or coil which absorbs the shock when rushing water is quickly halted by the closing of a valve. Occasionally, when water hammer occurs, it can be stopped by shutting off the main water valve to the house, draining the entire system and allowing all the faucets to remain open for a short time. The faucets are then closed and the main valve turned on again. This method sometimes works by releasing the water from the air chambers and permitting air to re-enter them.

In some cases of water hammer, a pipe that is not secured well to a beam or other support will vibrate violently. So, when water hammer is present, you should immediately track as much of the water line as possible and see whether any portion of it is loose. Even a half-inch of play between a pipe and a beam is sufficient to cause noise as the vibrating pipe slams into the wood. See whether a supporting strap or bracket has worked loose and requires readjustment or replacement.

tensive work done on our house and plan to get a Federal Housing Administration loan, the kind called Title I. Will the FHA guarantee the quality of the workmanship and the materials?

A. — No. What it does is to insure the lender that he will get his money if you default. Therefore, take as much time and trouble to get a good contractor as you should even if the FHA were not in the picture. The best recommendation is one which comes from a previous customer.

Q. — To get the rain water away from our house, I plan to install drain tiles from the bottom of the downspouts to a dry well. How deepiy should the tiles be buried and how far away should the dry well be?

A. — The drain tiles should be laid in a trench from one to two feet in depth, slanted slightly in the direction of the well. The well should be at least 8 feet from the house, but preferably 8 or 10 feet farther than that.

Q. — I have a masonry repair job coming up and intend to make my own mixture. I understand the portland cement needed is cheaper when bought in large quantities. My question is — will it keep indefinitely?

A. — If sealed airtight, yes. But this is difficult to accomplish once the bag has been opened for the initial job. Moisture then gets into the sack and causes the cement to harden. You are better off buying only what you need.

REPOT AFRICAN VIOLET

You can repot an African violet just about any time of the year, but fall and spring are preferred. Use a pot that is just one or two sizes larger than the present pot. It's suggested that you buy some sterile potting soil and mix it with equal parts of peat moss and vermiculite.

GARDENIAS NEED HUMIDITY

Gardenias like light, but also plenty of humidity. For your gardenias that are indoors for the fall and winter, it's suggested that you set them on a shallow pan filled with moist gravel. Also keep it from drafts and direct heat.

Want a finer lawn?
Then read this!

For nearly a half century our business has been growing and supplying sod for the finer lawns of America, golf course putting greens, athletic fields and other grass areas. About twenty years ago, because we were not satisfied with the quality of grasses then available, we established a research facility for the purpose of grass studies. Our hope was that we could find or develop better grasses. Today, we have under observation over 1,000 strains and species of grasses, many of which are outstanding in their performance. Several of our lawn grass developments have been patented and are available to the public in various parts of the United States and Europe. Others are to be released soon.

About ten years ago one of these new grasses, WARREN'S® A-34 KENTUCKY BLUEGRASS, now known as BenSun™ A-34, was introduced into California. Its performance has proven to be outstanding. BenSun A-34 Kentucky Bluegrass has several interesting characteristics. It is highly drought tolerant, does well in most soils and will tolerate up to 65% shade. It is quick to recover when injured, and is used extensively on athletic fields, golf courses, race tracks and other areas where rough usage or hard play can be expected. In spite of its hardy characteristics it makes a beautiful lawn and can be mowed as closely as one half inch when planted in open sunlight.

BenSun A-34 thrives in hot or cool climates, at high or low altitudes, is highly disease resistant and requires less fertilizer than most other grasses. It is the Aristocrat of all lawn grasses!

Because of its vigor and because of its small seed, one pound of seed is sufficient to plant 2,000 square feet of lawn area, about 1,000 seed per square foot. Its seed is actually less expensive than other grass seed because it goes farther, costing only 1/3¢ per square foot.

BenSun A-34 Kentucky Bluegrass is available from your Landscape Contractor or Nurseryman, and you need have no fear of the success of BenSun A-34 because it carries this guarantee . . . "If you are not satisfied with the results obtained from this seed, return the empty box with proof of purchase within 6 months to Warren's Turf Nursery, Inc. You will be supplied with more seed or your money will be refunded, your choice."

For an excellent lawn next year, now is the time to plant BenSun A-34 Sod or Seed. BenSun A-34 Sod or Seed planted in late summer or early fall developes a strong root system through the winter and spring months to give you a carpet of exquisite green lawn next summer when you'll want your lawn to be at its peak.

And don't forget this! For every person who sees the inside of your home, 10,000 see the outside. BenSun A-34 Kentucky Bluegrass will make your lawn the outstanding lawn in your community.

'WFL was on right track'

Don Andersen has a tough job these days.

He is on the banquet circuit explaining why the World Football League folded last week.

Andersen stopped in Pomona Thursday afternoon to address the Pomona Host Lions Club. Even though he really doesn't have to, he is fulfilling commitments made when he was still the vice president of marketing and public relations for the Southern California Sun.

"I have made 24 talks in a 17-day period telling people the World Football League would make it," Andersen said. "Obviously, my script is going to have to change."

Even though he is now unemployed after a distinguished career working for the CIF, USC, WFL and the Sun, Andersen still has his sense of humor.

"If I seem nervous speaking to you, it's because this is one of the largest paid crowds I've seen for awhile," he grinned.

Andersen's talk wasn't a requiem for the dead league.

"It's obvious the WFL made mistakes," he explained. "The biggest was the lack of capitalization. Owning a pro football team is great ego factor for some people. A lot of guys were in this for kicks then they brought in their close friends to run it for them. There were far too few experienced professional sports people in the WFL."

Even thought the WFL folded midway through its second season, Andersen feels it made its contributions to pro sports.

Tribute to football

"I think it's a tribute to pro football that the WFL survived one season," he said. "Statistics show that 50 per cent of all new businesses last year failed. I tell you the Sun was not the reason the league failed. It was getting to be too much of a burden for five of our 10 teams so folding was the only feasible thing to do."

Andersen warns pro sports in general about the future.

"All of pro sports are suffering," he explained. "Even with the rich television contracts plus enjoying an average of 93 per cent capacity, nine National Football League teams lost money last year. It's incredible and it means we're going to see higher ticket prices.

"The average salary in the National Basketball Association is $103,000 because of the way the competition from the American Basketball Association has forced the salaries up. The average in the National Hockey league is $70,000.

"It costs a ton of money to run a football team with a 45-man roster. Our recent overnight trip to Hawaii cost $17,000."

Andersen feels the WFL's Hemmeter Plan — which basically has the players being paid from a percentage of the receipts — is a salvation for pro sports.

"Even though the WFL failed, the plan is a good one. It just didn't have enough time to prove itself. If we could have averaged 20,000 paid customers a game, the WFL players could have approached the average salary in the NFL."

The former Sun vice president felt the WFL made some vital contributions to the game.

"I believed in the concept of the WFL and still do," he said. "The league was on the right track. There is a market for another pro football league, there are enough cities, a large enough television audience and we proved there are enough quality players.

Staying power

"The only thing you can compare our league to is the American Football League of 15 years ago. The AFL also had its problems in the beginning but it had more staying power because it had big dollars like Lamar Hunt behind it.

"Our league made a tremendous influence. We made 10 rule changes and the NFL adopted five of them. Soccer kickers were dominating pro football until we cut the emphasis of field goals. We put a good, entertaining product. The Sun averaged 30 points a game and the opponents 31. That's excitement.

"The WFL proved there are a lot of good football players in the country. Nine players from last year's Sun team are now in the NFL.

"Anthony Davis probably doubled his market value thanks to the WFL. You watch and see. He will sign for a ton of money with Toronto of the Canadian Football League next week and then make a ton of money later on in the NFL."

In conclusion, Anderson said, "The WFL and Sun were on the right track but just weren't drawing enough to make it."

Andersen won't be unemployed long. He is planning to open his own public relations firm.

Speedway bikes at Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Speedway motorcycles, which accelerate from zero to 60 miles per hour in three seconds and can only turn to the left, return to the Los Angeles Coliseum on Saturday after a 36-year absence.

Zip could be the word for the races, and Jack Milne, who zipped to a world championship in the sport in 1937, is one of the prime movers to revive it.

For 28 weeks, speedway bikes and their riders have drawn near sellout crowds of 8,000 at the Orange County Fairgrounds in nearby Costa Mesa. Now promoters hope for 20,000 or more in the Coliseum for what's tabbed as the national championship.

So far, however, the sport's revival has been limited largely to California, and the crowds are far less than the 85,000 who watched the last race at the Coliseum on March 19, 1939, prior to World War II.

"It could be one of the biggest sports in America if it gets going again like it has in England," said Milne, now 69 and a successful businessman in Pasadena.

Since he raced internationally, the bike frames have been lightened but the engines, which burn alcohol, remain much the same.

"We have a whole new bunch of riders and when we started the revival seven or eight years ago, most didn't even know what the sport was about," said Milne. "They learned the trick is to get off quick."

The track at the Coliseum will be only one-fifth of a mile and built at the peristyle end. Four laps comprise a race and take only about 90 seconds. There will be 16 entries with 20 races in all, with points awarded on a 3-2-1 basis for each race.

"The circular track will be an ideal length for this type of racing," said Milne who pointed out the speedway bikes have no brakes and virtually no transmission since the two gears can't be shifted once the race starts. Even the lubrication is by the drip method—oil drips through the engine and then down onto the track.

UCLA and Washington play a Pacific-8 football game at the Coliseum in the afternoon. That crowd leaves and hopefully another will return for the motorcycle racing that starts at 8 p.m. and ends two hours later.

The motorcycles now weigh about 175 pounds, 50 less than when Milne was racing, but he says, "The present day engines are essentially no better than they were when I was racing. They are small bikes with a lot of horsepower."

Milne lost his thumb racing in England in 1936, but was out of action only about three weeks. He came back to win the world title, the only American ever to do it, the following year. When World War II broke out, he and his brother returned to the United States.

"I still love the speedway racing," he says although his activities are now limited to promoting. "Next year we plan to have a nationally syndicated television show for the racing and hope to get more riders and fans throughout the nation interested in this revival."

It's official! McKay to Tampa

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Southern California football Coach John McKay will coach the Tampa Bay Buccaneers when that team joins the National Football League in 1976, the club announced today.

Bucs' owner Hugh Culverhouse announced that McKay, a 16-season veteran at USC, was "the only man I made a firm offer to."

Culverhouse said, however, that he interviewed a number of coaches for the job. He declined to name any of them.

"I went after the man I thought could do the job better than anyone else," Culverhouse told a news conference which featured a telephone hook-up with McKay in Los Angeles.

Culverhouse welcomed the 52-year-old coach, telling him that his fondness for cigars should be satisfied by this cigar-making city.

"I'm very tickled you picked me," McKay said. "The big reason I took the job was to get the cigars," he joked.

Although Culverhouse and McKay did not reveal terms of the contract, the St. Petersburg Times reported today that McKay's contract is believed to contain these provisions:

—A $750,000 salary over five years.

—A $500,000 life insurance policy for himself.

—A $250,000 life insurance policy for his wife, Corky.

—Some $250,000 in Florida real estate, with a guarantee against depreciation.

—Three new cars.

—A $10,000 expense account.

McKay said he would rather have waited until the end of the season to announce his future plans, but said the pressure was mounting for his family and team.

"It got to a point where it was best it should come out," McKay said.

McKay said he told his Trojan players, currently ranked No. 4 with a 7-0 record this year, about his move earlier this morning. He said "they pretty much suspected" that it was coming.

McKay, who said he was in negotiations with Culverhouse since the summer, said he has given much thought to his successors as USC coach and athletic director, and about possible assistants with the Bucs.

"I pretty much thought about assistants and know who I would like to hire," he said, saying he was mulling over names from both the collegiate and pro ranks. He said he probably will wait until the end of the season to name his assistants.

Culverhouse said he expected McKay in Tampa after USC's last game Nov. 28 against UCLA — unless the Trojans get a bowl bid, at this point a strong likelihood.

In that case, McKay will not be on the job for the Bucs until January.

"We want him to keep his winning ways, right over to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers," Culverhouse said.

McKay has coached the Trojans to a 126-36-8 record since 1960. His teams have won four national championships, played in eight Rose Bowls, winning five.

SPEEDWAY RACER

Jeff Sexton of Montclair will ride in the National Speedway Championships at L.A. Memorial Coliseum Saturday. Sexton has established himself as one of the top riders on the circuit.

Garey, Damien tangle at Poly

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

A San Antonio League showdown between Damien and Garey, a Citrus Belt League crucial between Chaffey and Redlands and a most unusual "home" game highlight tonight's prep football slate in the valley.

Damien, currently all alone atop the SAL standings with a 4-0 mark, will be facing a Viking squad which shares second place with Chino with a 3-1 record. The game, which is also Garey's homecoming, will be held at Cal Poly's Kellogg Field tonight at 7:30 p.m.

In the CBL, league leading Chaffey (2-0) will try to put a virtual lock on the loop title tonight at Redlands, and also try to break a 20-year jinx the Terriers have over them.

And, in the night's oddest scheduling, Pomona will be hosting Upland at Chaffey College. The game will be played at the Alta Loma-based Panther Field due to the unavailability of any other site in the local area. It marks the first time in Pomona High's long history the school has ever had a home game at Chaffey College, and is doubly odd since Upland High actually is several miles closer to Panther Field than PHS.

Rounding out the SAL slate tonight, it will be Chino at Montclair in another 7:30 p.m. kickoff. The other SAL match, Claremont-Ganesha, was played Thursday night.

The Hacienda League schedule tonight has Bonita vs. Gladstone at Citrus College (7:30 p.m. starting time) and Alta Loma vs. San Dimas at Bonita High (8 p.m.). The other H.L. game involving locals, Ontario-Walnut, was played last night.

Rounding out the grid action scheduled locally, Webb was at Big Bear for an afternoon game.

The big SAL matchup between the Spartans and the Vikings figures to be both teams toughest tests of the year to this point. The game has the added interest of featuring some of the top offensive backs in the valley.

Heading that list is Garey's Stanley Webster, the leading scorer in the area. Also looking most impressive of late for the Vikings has been quarterback Milt Banks.

However, the Spartans have an outstanding quarterback of their own in Joe Carroll and some powerful runners in fullback Leo Burke and halfback Ruben Lopez.

Both squads also have plenty of talent on defense, with tackle Richard Saville leading the charge for the Vikings of late and lineback Gregg Elias pacing the Spartans.

Ther contest between Pomona and Upland is also an important one for those two schools. Both are 2-2 in SAL action at this point, so a loss for either would end their CIF playoff hopes for 1975.

Chino is another squad trying to stay in contention for the SAL top-spot and a CIF playoff bid. The Cowboys figure to be top-heavy favorites to dump host Montclair tonight, but the Cavaliers could surprise if they can get their offense together.

The Cowboy-Cav encounter will be broadcast live on Radio KSOM, 1510 on the AM dial, for fans who can not make it to Montclair High to see the action in person.

Chaffey High is within striking distance of a long-sought after CBL crown, but the Tigers will have to break a hex that Redlands has held over them. The Tigers have not beaten the Terriers at Redlands since 1956, and it doesn't figure to be easy tonight despite Redlands 1-1 league mark and the Terriers' 4-2 overall ledger.

Chaffey, 5-1 on the year, was ranked 10th in the latest CIF 4A grid poll, while Redlands is unranked.

Over in the H.L., Bonita will be trying to stay tied with powerful Royal Oak atop the standings, and the Bearcats figure to do just that tonight at Citrus College against a Gladstone team crippled with injuries. The Alta Loma-San Dimas game is also important on the Hacienda scene, as the loser of that one will be out of luck for any possible CIF 2A playoff berth.

Cincy fans go mad for football

CINCINNATI (AP) — It hasn't taken long for football to supplant baseball in sports-mad Cincinnati.

Cincinnati Bengals officials, swamped by an all-time demand for tickets to Sunday's Cincinnati-Pittsburgh showdown, predict the National Football League rivalry would attract "75,000 fans if we had the room."

It promises to be the largest crowd since 60,284 shivering fans packed Riverfront Stadium in sub-freezing temperatures in 1971 to see the Bengals battle the Cleveland Browns.

"It's been a sellout for two weeks now, but the phones keep ringing off the hook," said Bill Hedgecock, ticket manager for the Bengals.

"We've had requests from as far away as California. There's no doubt this will be our biggest crowd in years," he said.

The U.S. Weather Service is predicting a perfect football day, with temperatures in the 60s and no chance of precipitation.

The Bengals, off to the fastest start in their eight-year history, risk a 6-0 record against the defending Super Bowl champions. Pittsburgh, 5-1, has not been beaten on the road since the Bengals stopped the Steelers 17-10 a year ago in Cincinnati.

Kings hot on Forum ice

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

INGLEWOOD — The Kings had a big night at the Forum Thursday and the 10,231 customers loved every minute of it.

Goalie Rogie Vachon, who had heard some boos earlier this year, had the fans chanting his name "Rogie, Rogie" during the final minutes of the Kings' 4-0 shutout over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Kings' fans also have a new hero in the flashy Marcel Dionne, the man who came in the big off-season trade with the Detroit Red Wings.

Dionne provided the punch he was expected to deliver by scoring the first goal and assisting on two others to pace the offense.

The Kings are hot at home.

Thursday's win as Los Angeles' fifth at home this season without a loss or tie and puts the Kings within two of the club record of seven consecutive victories on Forum ice.

The victory gave L.A. the undisputed lead in the Norris Division of the National Hockey League. With 16 points, the Kings are now two ahead of Montreal and seven in front of Pittsburgh.

After losing their first two games of the season by big scores on the road, Coach Bob Pulford's team has rebounded to win eight of its last 10 games.

A big reason is Vachon.

After starting the season by allowing 16 goals in two games, Rogie has lowered his goals-against average to 3.86 after Thursday's shutout. He hans't allowed a goal in his last 176:05 minutes of action and registered back-to-back shutouts for the first time in two seasons.

Maybe it was the Penguins. Vachon blanked Pittsburgh three times last year.

"I thought Vachon would play well tonight," Pulford said. "I knew he was in good shape. I almost felt we could win the game with just one goal."

Pulford was basically happy with the defensive play.

"We didn't get caught on a two-for-one breakaway all night," he said. "When you get that type of hockey, you're playing well. I like the fact we held Pittsburgh to only 21 shots."

For awhile it looked like one goal would be all the Kings would need and even that was looking doubtful as Penguin goalie Gary Inness blanked L.A. until midway in the second period.

Dionne ended the scoreless deadlock with his 10th goal of the season, a five-footer which eluded Inness. Mike Murphy made a perfect pass to set it up.

The Kings put the Penguins away in the third period on three goals with Bob Nevin, Tommy Williams and Murphy getting on the scoreboard.

Dionne's three points moved him to within one of Montreal's Guy Lefleur for the NHL scoring lead. Dionne has 14 assists to go with his 10 goals for 24 points.

Murphy also had two assists to go with his goal while Gene Carr contributed a pair of assists.

The Kings took 39 shots on goal with Dionne tying a club record with 11.

KINGS KORNER — The Kings are now 28-24-4 lifetime vs. Pittsburgh and 20-7-1 at home.

In six games against Pittsburgh last year, Vachon allowed only eight goals.

It was Murphy's 300th NHL game.

The Kings return to action at The Forum Saturday night against the Atlanta Flames.

Forum debut for Lakers

INGLEWOOD — THE 1975-76 edition of the Lakers makes its regular season home debut tonight (8 p.m.).

Joining his new teammates for the first time will be former ABA star Jim McDaniel. The Lakers signed the 6-11, 240-pound center-forward this week.

Tonight's opponent, Seattle will feature 7-4 Tom Burleson and 6-9 Leonard Gray in their front line. The Sonics, 3-1, lead the Pacific division of the NBA.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — A field of 11, headed by Ancient Title, was named Thursday for Saturday's richest United States thoroughbred horse race, the $350,000 National Thoroughbred Championship.

Ancient Title, top weighted at 125 with Laffit Pincay Jr., riding, drew the No. 5 starting position for the 1¼-mile race over the main track at Santa Anita in the nationally televised feature of the Oak Tree meeting.

In post position order, the entries were:

L'Enjoleur, 117, Sandy Hawley; Forceten, 120, Donald Pierce; Dulcia, 117, Bill Shoemaker; Royal glint, 120, Jorge Tejeira; Ancient Title; Allez France, 121, Yves Saint-Martin; Messenger of Song, 116, Jerry Lambert; Tizna, 118, Fernando Alvarez; Holding Pattern, 117, no boy; Stonewalk, 116, Ron Turcotte, and Jim, 110, Frank Olivares.

Late withdrawals from the race were Diabolo and Avatar.

NFL casualties at 11 per cent

By Associated Press

Is there a doctor in the stadium?

With six weeks gone in the season, the National Football League's injured reserve list resembles the rolls of the wounded after a small war, with the present toll now at 127.

There are another eight weeks remaining in the 1975-76 season, and if the situation worstens—almost a certainty—the league may want to hold their Bicentennial Super Bowl at Valley Forge.

With 1,118 athletes employed by the NFL's 26 clubs—43 to a team—the 127 disabled men sidelined for the season represents a dismaying 11 per cent chunk of the total playing force.

Many see the problem as a direct result of the NFL's controversial decision to economise by cutting rosters from 47 to 43. A spokesman for the Kansas City Chiefs, who have 15 men out for either all or part of the season, felt that there was "no doubt" the reduced roster was the culprit.

"We're playing the same number of games, but with four fewer men," he said. "We have less depth, so folks don't get as much rest as they used to."

Washington Redskins Coach George Allen agrees.

"I've never seen anything like it," he said, surveying his team's injury census. "With no taxi squad." Allen explained, "you are playing players that have bumps and bruises. Normally, you take them off for a week and let them rest and recover. One of the reasons coaches cannot wait a long period of time for players to recover is that every game is vital."

Even so, many teams seem destined to forfeit still more of their physical vitality because of the NFL's version of catch-22—a built-in dilemma in the rule book.

A player on the NFL injured reserve list is paid his salary as long as he remains there. If a player on the list recovers during the season, he may be placed on waivers and another club may pick him up and use him in the same season. However, he cannot play for the club that put him there.

A rule change this year allows a club to protect only three players on its injured reserve list. The rest are vulnerable in the marketplace next year and so many teams may have trouble protecting their rosters for next season while struggling to maintain a healthy squad this season.

Among the Chiefs on the Kansas City injured reserve list are starting guards Ed Budde and Randy Beisler, starting wide receiver Otis Taylor and starting defensive tackle Marvin Upshaw. Four's a crowd and one of them cannot be protected.

Brawl erupts as Flyers rout Maple Leafs

By The Associated Press

The verbal brawl off the ice matched the third-period slugfests that emptied out both benches.

Philadelphia scored three second-period goals in less than four minutes to rout the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-2 Thursday night in a National Hockey League game marked by much final-period fighting and a wealth of penalties.

Afterward, Maple Leafs' Coach Red Kelly was as disturbed by the style of play as the outcome of the game.

"We did all right in the game and the fisticuffs," he said sternly. "But where we didn't do all right was in slashing at the ankles, at the knees, at the elbows."

The latter remark was in reference to what Kelly considered unsportsmanlike conduct by the Flyers.

"If that's what they want to do, we can do the same thing," he said. "When you slash at somebody's ankles and knees, you are taking away their livelihood."

In other NHL action Thursday night, Boston nipped St. Louis 3-2, Vancouver tied Buffalo 4-4, Los Angeles blanked Pittsburgh 4-0, and Washington stopped Kansas City 6-2.

Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero leveled similar charges of rough play at Toronto after the game, which boosted the Flyers' regular season winning streak at home to 19 games. Bobby Clarke, agreed, saying, "He's (Kelly) a loser. He didn't see us crying."

Bruins 3, Blues 2

"The trade was no surprise," confided new St. Louis center Derek Sanderson, who scored his first goal of the year after the Rangers sent him to the Blues earlier in the day.

"I went there with illusions of grandeur," Sanderson explained of his season-and-afraction in New York, "and I found clouds of despair."

Also, Boston's Johnny Bucyk, 40, became the seventh player in NHL history to reach the coveted 500-goal mark as he connected on a 25-foot shot which beat St. Louis goalie Yves Belanger at 12:52 of the first period.

Sabres 4, Canucks 4

Gilles Perreault scored his second goal of the night into an empty net with 14 seconds remaining, after Buffalo, down 43, pulled goalie Gerry Desjardins with 38 seconds on the clock to send in another attacker.

Kings 4, Penguins 0

Capitals 6, Scouts 2

Tommy Williams scored two goals and goalie Bernie Wolfe, making his first NHL appearance, stopped all but two of 30 Kansas City shots. "I thought we caught a very tired hockey team," said Caps' Coach Milt Schmidt, who went on to praise a happy Wolfe as "very impressive."

LONG REACH — Walt Frazier (10) of the New York Knicks reaches for ball controlled by Nate Archibald of the Kansas City Kings. Knicks defeated Kings in NBA game, 117-113.

Media 'presses' Haywood

By Associated Press

Spencer Haywood, the newest Knick, can't wait to get out of town.

Haywood, the object of media overkill since coming to the Knicks from Seattle one day before the start of the National Basketball Association season, is looking forward to New York's five-game road trip to the West Coast next week just to get some time to himself.

"I was just overwhelmed by the whole New York experience," said the soft-spoken Haywood. "The whole New York thing has had me up in the air. I think when we get on the road I'll have some time to calm down."

Haywood has been looking more at home with the Knicks in each outing and Thursday night he looked downright comfortable scoring 26 points and pulling down 11 rebounds as New York beat Kansas City 117-113.

"I felt better tonight, more relaxed," he said. "You can't do anything unless you're relaxed. I came here with a lot of ideas about changing numbers and what not, but it's not going to be like that.

"I'm just going to play my heart out and try to win for the Knicks and then go home and try to live my own life."

Cleveland beat Chicago 108-91 in the only other NBA game played Thursday night. San Antonio edged San Diego 102-100 in the lone American Basketball Association contest.

Haywood scored 10 points and pulled down seven rebounds in the first quarter for the Knicks, but ran into foul trouble and was less effective the rest of the way.

The Kings, trailing 26-14 late in the first period, rallied behind speedy Nate Archibald to go ahead 55-54 at the half. Archibald scored 19 points in the first half. He added 14 more in the third period but Walt Frazier and reserve center Neal Walk led the Knicks to an 85-82 lead after three and the Kings never caught up. Haywood and John Gianelli sank two free throws each in the final minute to ice it for New York.

Frazier scored 32 points and Earl Monroe and Walk had 16 each for the Knicks. Archibald finished with 35 points, only two in the final period, and Scott Wedman added 25 for the losers. New York is 2-3 while Kansas City is winless in three tries.

Cavaliers 108, Bulls 91

Bingo Smith scored 22 points as Cleveland won its first game in three outings. The Cavs pulled away in the second half and led by as many as 19 points late in the game. Dick Snyder added 17 points for Cleveland while Bob Love topped Chicago with 17.

Spurs 102, Sails 100

Larry Kenon's 15-foot jump shot with 22 seconds left gave San Antonio its margin of victory. James Silas topped the Spurs with 29 points. George Gervin added 23 and Kenon had 20. Bo Lamar scored 26 points for San Diego.

UCLA takes Debus back

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chuck Debus is back on the payroll as UCLA's women's track coach, but it may be too late for the Bruins to enter a team in the national cross country championships, an event they were expected o win easily.

The first cross country championship held by the Association of Inter-Women — AIAW — is scheduled for Nov. 15 at Iowa State University. The deadline for entry forms was Thursday at midnight.

The team's current head coach, Hal Hakness, said he turned in a blank entry form Thursday to UCLA's director of women's athletics, Dr. Judith Holland, because "there was no one working out at the school..."

The curious situation arose when Debus, the team's coach for the last year, resigned under fire seven weeks ago. However, 19 of the 27 women on the track team left with him.

Debus was reinstated Wednesday in an out-of-court settlement, but he was suspended pending a hearing which he has requested.

Debus, 33, was asked to resign Sept. 10 after members of the women's track team allegedly complained to Dr. Holland about his conduct. Debus said in an interview that only two athletes complained about him.

"One of them tried to get me fired a year ago," he said. "She told them I wasn't paying attention to her and some of the others. Well, some of the lesser athletes don't get the attention that the top people do. I'm the only coach out there, for 25 women, and that covers the running, hurdles, throwing events, jumping events..."

The 19 who left began working out with Debus at Santa Monica City College. Included in that group are Olympic bronze medal-winning javelin thrower Kathy Schmidt and international cross country champion Julie Brown.

Miss Schmidt, the American record holder in her event, said it was "absurd for Dr. Holland to think we will work with Hal Harkness. Many of the women came here because Debus was coach. It would be totally out of the question to change coaches now."

Miss Schmidt noted that it was only nine more months before the U.S. Olympic trials, and that training with the same coach was essential.

Debus had sued the school to get his position back on grounds that UCLA didn't hold pre-termination hearings, allowing him to rebut the charges against him.

Harkness, an assistant men's track coach, said he knew nothing about the charges against Debus. Holland said, "I prefer to withhold comment until the Chuck Debus matter has reached its final disposition."

Debus' women's track and cross country teams at UCLA won four national championships last year including the AAU title.

UCLA, Troy in Pac-8 battles

By The Associated Press

Southern California and UCLA, the only two teams in the Pacific-8 Conference with unbeaten league marks, both have extra incentive this weekend.

The No. 4-ranked Trojans visit California and the Bears tied USC 15-15 last season—the last time Southern Cal failed to win a game.

UCLA, ranked 13th, hosts Washington and the Bruins remember a 31-9 loss to the Huskies at Seattle in 1974. Washington kept the pressure on the Bruins late in the game even though it was already decided.

But the basic incentive for both UCLA and USC is the Rose Bowl. Both have 3-0 Pac-8 records while Cal at 3-1 and Washington at 2-1 could still be considered longshots.

Elsewhere in the Pac-8 Saturday Oregon is at Washington State and Stanford, another Rose Bowl longshot, is at winless Oregon State.

In the Pacific Coast Athletic Association the San Diego State Aztecs, now ranked No. 18 in the nation with a 7-0 record, play at Pacific 4-3-1, in a night game. In the other PCAA league game San Jose State, 3-0 in the conference and 6-1 overall, is at Fresno State, 1-3 and 2-6, while Fullerton State takes a 1-6 mark to Hawaii against the 2-3 Rainbows.

USC, bruised after a 24-17 victory over Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind., is 7-0 for the season and unbeaten in 18 games.

Against Cal it will be a matchup of the Trojans' mighty Ricky Bell, the top rusher in the country who belted the Irish for 165 yards on 40 carries, against the Bears' Chuck Muncie who is averaging more than 100 yards a game as his school's all-time rushing leader.

"We'll have to be excellent again this week to stop California," said USC Coach John McKay. "Their offense is among the most versatile in the country and this time we'll find out if we can stop a team that is very good at both running and passing."

The Bruins were without quarterbacks John Sciarra and Jeff Dankworth when they faced the Huskies last season. Last week with Sciarra running the potent Bruin attack UCLA whipped Cal 28-14 and the Bruins gained 451 yards total offense. UCLA is 5-1-1, Cal dropped to 4-3 with the loss.

Sciarra, himself a fine runner, handed off to Wendell Tyler more than 20 times against Cal and the halfback gained 143 yards and is now averaging 7.2 yards a game. But Bruin Coach Dick Vermeil has indicated UCLA might try to throw more to receivers Norm Anderson and Wally Henry.

Washington, 3-4 overall, counters with hard-throwing Chris Rowland at running back and huge Robin Earl, a 6-foot-5, 250-pound fullback.

Stanford, 2-1 in the league and 3-3-1 overall, has won its last six games from the Beavers who are 0-7 for this season.

Oregon brings an 0-3 Pac-8 record, 1-6 overall, into its game against Washington State at Pullman while the Cougars are also winless in the league at 0-4 with a 2-5 overall mark.

World Series of Golf

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The 1976 World Series of Golf will be held Sept. 2-5 at the Firestone Country Club's south course, the Professional Golfers Association announced Thursday.

The scheduling forced officials to move dates of the American Golf Classic, also held at Firestone, back to Aug. 25-29. That competition will be played on the club's north course.

The series offers $300,000 in prize money and the field will include 20-30 international professionals and amateurs, the PGA said.

The series is the final segment of the U.S. tour.

The $200,000 Classic contests will mark the first time a major tournament has been played on the club's north course, the PGA said.

The PGA also said this year's series will be a 72-hole event rather than a 36-hole playoff as in the past.

Casualty list grows in NFL

Miami Dolphins injured reserve list include three defensive starters: safety Dick Anderson, Middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and tackle Bob Heinz. A recent key addition is tight end Jim McFarland. Any of them could be lost.

The Detroit Lions are feeling the pressure exerted by the team's health hangups. Veteran receivers Larry Walton and Jon Staggers and rookie Dennis Franklin are among the nine players on the Lions' injured reserve list. If Detroit adds either or both of its injured quarterbacks — Bill Munson and Greg Landry — to the ranks, it will surrender one or two valuable players. If it does not add them to the list, the Lions will play with less than a 43-man roster.

The Redskins have defensive end Verlon Biggs, offensive guard Paul Laaveg and defensive back Ken Stone on their seven-man injured reserve list.

Biggs underwent knee surgery, as did Stone and reserve Tim Stokes. Tight end Mike Hancock had foot surgery, running back Felix Lobdell is out for the year with a shoulder injury and Laaveg was disabled for the season with neck trouble.

Among the hurts haunting the Chiefs is a kind of curse in the left guard position.

When Budde bowed out early in the year with a knee injury he was replaced with Beisler, who subsequently hurt his neck. The Chiefs then hired Roger Bernhardt away from his service station job. However, Bernhardt injured his knee last Sunday and will be out for a month, so free agent Rocky Rasley has been invited to fill in.

"We may have trouble getting volunteers for the left guard position after all this," said Coach Paul Wiggin.

Among the other troubled teams are Atlanta, which lost defensive end Claude Humphrey for the year with a knee injury and quarterback Steve Bartkowski for two weeks with a dislocated elbow.

Buffalo is without all-pro defensive back Robert James and receiver Ahmad Rashad for the season while the New York Jets will have to do without defensive back Steve Tannen, linebacker Al Atkinson and backup quarterback Al Woodall.

Green Bay is playing the season without kicker Chester Marcol, cornerback Willie Buchanon and receiver Charlie Wade, in addition to three reserves.

A few teams have escaped the injury plague, and that could account for their success.

The Minnesota Vikings, 6-0, have only one player — reserve Amo Martin — on the reserved list. The Dallas Cowboys, 5-1, are only missing kicker Efren Herrara, and the Cincinnati Bengals, 6-0, have one starter, defensive end Royce Berry, and two reserves, Gary Burley and Charles Davis on the injured reserve list.

Meanwhile, at least one team would love an excuse like injuries for its woes.

In the preseason, the Cleveland Browns, 0-6 lost veteran strong safety Thom Darden for the year with a knee injury, but other than that, the only major injury has been a slipped disc for second-year offensive guard Pete Adams, figured as a probable starter and also out for the season.

Mustangs blank another H.L. foe

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Correspondent

The Walnut High Mustangs smothered the visiting Ontario Jaguars, 29-0, Thursday night at Mt. San Antonio College.

Returning easily to form of their five victories preceding last week's 9-6 loss to Royal Oak, the Mustangs dominated every phase of the lopsided game. The Walnut defense, ranked second in the valley, limited Ontario to 36 yards rushing and dropped Jaguar ball carriers for losses 10 times. The Jaguars passed midfield only twice, and never crossed Walnut's 39-yard line.

Meanwhile, the Mustang offensive unit also rated No. 2 locally, ground out 221 yards rushing, led by fullback Kevin Morgan's 110 yards on 22 carries and halfback Keith McDermott's 67 on 17 tries.

The only category in which the two teams were statistically close was passing. Walnut quarterbacks Kevin Loggins and Pat Flaherty combined for five completions in 12 attempts for 53 yards, while Larry Cutbirth of Ontario threw 16 times for 51 yards on seven completions.

In spite of a 274-yard total offense effort by Walnut, it was the Mustang defense that scored the first points of the game.

The Jaguars began their first possession of the evening on their own 18-yard line following a booming 45-yard punt by Walnut's Doug Vind. After an illegal procedure call against the Jags, Cutbirth was stopped for no gain, linebacker Kevin Veselic dropped Nolan Diggs for a five-yard loss and defensive tackle Brian Jackson tackled Elijah Bishop for an eight-yard loss, giving Ontario a fourth-and-28 situation on its own one-foot line.

Punter Juan Ramirez took the snap deep in the end zone, and an official noted that one of Ramirez' feet was actually behind the back line of the end zone just before the kick. The ref signaled a safety for the Mustangs with three minutes gone in the game.

Ramirez then free kicked to Walnut from the Ontario 20, and the Mustangs scored the game's first touchdown three minutes later. After seven straight running plays moved the ball to the Jaguar 19, Loggins passed to Creg Fenwick at the 15 and the junior receiver raced to the goal line. Bill Collard's kick made it 9-0.

Walnut's next touchdown came after a 38-yard punt return by Bob Walker. The speedy cornerback took the punt at midfield and galloped down the sideline to Ontario's 12 before being pushed out of bounds by Steve Elicas. McDermott scored his sixth touchdown of the season from two yards out on third down and Collard added the extra point.

The Mustangs scored again on their next possession when Kevin Bowlin plunged a yard for a touchdown on his only carry of the game to cap a 10-play, 54-yard drive. Collard's kick was wide, leaving Walnut with a 22-0 halftime advantage.

Morgan ran in his seventh touchdown of the year midway through the fourth quarter for the only scoring of the second half. His one-yard tally ended a drive directed by reserve quarterback Flaherty that covered 77 yards in 11 plays. Collard added the PAT for the final 29-0 margin.

After posting their third shutout in five Hacienda League outings, the Mustangs will have to contend with Bonita (4-0 in league play, 4-2 overall) next week and San Dimas (2-2, 2-3-1) in the regular season finale. Ontario (0-5, 1-4) will host San Dimas next Friday at Chaffey High.

Claremont bounces back

By BRENT SHYER
PB Correspondent

In a complete reversal of form from last week's bitter defeat to Pomona the Claremont High Wolfpack came back to stomp the Ganesha Giants 23-14, Thursday night at Cal Poly's Kellogg Field.

"My guys have a lot of character," said a joyous Esper Keiser, celebrating his squad's victory. "Tonight we felt that we had to play two games — one for last week's loss, when we didn't come to play, and tonight's game."

Claremont's quarterback Mike Davis celebrated his birthday by tossing five complete passes out of 10 attempts, for 77 yards and one touchdown throw to Carl Davis. Davis was also the 'Packs' leading ground gainer with 63 yards on 13 carries.

Although playing on a slick turf, Claremont showed a solid running game, with every 'Pack play in the second half being a run. Sophomore Grant Warhurst sparkled in his best effort of the season by gaining 56 yards on 14 totes and one touchdown. David Anderson chipped in with 34 yards on 11 rushes to round out the 'Pack backfield attack.

Ganesha took a 14-10 advantage with 4:26 to go in the first half, when Joe Madrigal sent a perfect lead pass to Lloyd Jones who took it in to the end zone. Madrigal booted his second extra point of the night.

With only 1:05 remaining in the first half Anderson barreled into the end zone from one yard out, giving Claremont the lead, and with Jimmy Van Zee's PAT the score was 17-14 at the half.

That Wolfpack score was set up by Scott Kegans, who made a key interception of a Madrigal pass. After a facemasking penalty against the Giants, the 'Pack took over on the Ganesha six yard line. However, the Claremonters were guilty of holding on the next play, moving the ball back to the 21. Mike Davis then connected an aerial with David Devens good for 18 yards to keep the drive alive. Anderson capped the drive with his one-yard plunge.

The Giants had taken an early 7-0 lead, when Madrigal found George Terry open in the end zone, and the QB fired a pass right into his arms. Madrigal wound up with nine complete passes in 19 attempts, and had two intercepted.

The Giants rushing game was stymied by the tough Wolfpack defense. Ganesha could pick up only 76 rushing yards, with Floyd Eddings amassing 74 yards; 42 of those coming on a run leading to the Giants initial score.

Claremont had evened up the score at 7-7, when Carl Davis hauled in a Mike Davis pass, good for an 18-yard TD. Two big plays kept that drive going — one a 33-yard scamper by QB Davis, and the other a 23-yard completion to Mel Pompa. Claremont increased its margin to 10-7, when Van Zee kicked a 41-yard field goal, midway through the second quarter.

The only tally in the second half came when Warhurst bulled his way into the end zone from the one-yard line. That capped a 12-play scoring drive, and also ate up valuable time on the clock.

In a desperation attempt to get back into the game, the Giants surrisingly kept to the ground game, in which they had little success. Then Madrigal went to the air and Claremont's Randy Coste picked off the pass to clinch a Wolfpack victory.

Next Saturday at 7:30 p.m., the Wolfpack (3-4) will host Damien at Citrus College, while Ganesha (1-6) travels to Upland.

Boettcher sets course record

Despite a muddy track, Pomona High's Barry Boettcher raced to a new course record Thursday afternoon in the Devils' cross country dual meet with visiting Upland.

Boettcher traveled the Pomona course in a 9:12, bettering his own mark of 9:15 set last year.

Despite Boettchers efforts, however, the Devils were easily outdistanced by the powerful Upland squad, 20-43.

After Boettcher, it was all Upland. Casey Cox paced the Highlander runners with a 9:34, while Roger Innes was third with a 9:47.

Two other SAL cross country meets, Chino at Montclair and Claremont at Ganesha, were called off due to the damp weather. The Montclair meet has been re-set for today at 3:15 p.m. Claremont and Ganesha will try again Monday at 3:15 p.m.

Bucyk scores 500th goal

BOSTON (AP) — There are stiff fines for National Hockey League teams clearing the bench. It usually means an allout brawl.

But the Boston Bruins were all smiles as they leaped over the dasher Thursday night in a game with the St. Louis Blues. Even the three officials had to smile.

Johnny Bucyk, the Bruins' 40-year-old elder statesman, had scored his 500th goal, only the seventh player in NHL history to reach the charmed mark.

"It was a great feeling and I went into the net quickly after the puck," Bucyk said. "The biggest thrill, though, was all the players coming out on the ice to congratulate me. It was something. Then came the big ovation from the fans."

Acquired by Boston in 1957 after two seasons with the Detroit Red Wings, Bucyk scored his fifth goal of the year and the 500th of his career on a 25-foot shot at 12:52 of the first period.

The goal tied the score 1-1 and the Bruins went on to a 3-2 decision over the Blues.

"I'm glad it's over," Bucyk said. "I've really been pushing it, I wanted it so badly. I'm glad it turned out to be a big goal, one that helped us."

Bucyk, known to teammates as "The Chief" because of Indian heritage, couldn't actually recall his first NHL career goal in the 1955-56 season for Detroit, saying "that was a lot of years ago."

"I think it may have been against Gump Worsley when he was with the New York Rangers, but I don't know," Bucyk said. "I've got a lot of pucks since then, but I don't know how many. There have been a lot of milestones.

"I've got all the pucks mounted on plaques. When I retire, it will be nice to go back and look at them."

Asked if he will shoot for 600 goals, Bucyk smiled and replied: "Well, 501, anyway."

Sports briefs

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Harry Corbett, 18, a high school senior with a congential heart condition, died Wednesday after playing in a football game during physical education class.

Corbett collapsed at Seminole High School and was declared dead on arrival at a hospital. Dr. G.V. Garay, Seimnole County medical examiner, said the youth suffered from a congential defect which resulted in heart failure.

Dr. Jorge Gomez, the youth's personal physican, said he had told Corbett to avoid strenuous activities. But school principal Don Reynolds said the school had a letter from a doctor authorizing the youngster to return to "normal school activity."

Reynolds said Corbett had been participating in physical education classes for about a month and had played football before collapsing on the school grounds.

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Tommy John, sidelined since mid-1974, appears ready for action when spring training starts, the National League club says.

John ruptured ligaments in his left elbow on July 17, 1974, when he had a record of 13-3. After undergoing surgery at the end of the season, the left-hander had hoped for a 1975 comeback but the injury hadn't healed sufficiently.

After the campaign ended, he went to the Arizona Instructional League and compiled a 3-1 record. In his final five innings of work, he allowed no earned runs and struck out six. His final pitches were clocked at 85 miles an hour, his fastest of the instructional league work.

He has returned to the Dodgers roster. Dodger scout Guy Wellman, who worked with John in Arizona said his performance have been encouraging.

Blyleven wants to be traded

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Twins pitcher Bert Blyleven has made a written request to club President Calvin Griffith to be traded.

"I feel I have been underpaid by the Twins for four or five seasons," Blyleven said in an interview.

"Almost every time I go out there, I hold the team close enough to give us a good chance to win," he said.

Blyleven has won 95 games and compiled over 1,300 strikeouts in 5½ seasons with the Twins.

However, Blyleven lost a salary arbitration battle with the Twins last winter, when the Twins stressed that the pitcher's wins and losses were about equal.

"They told me that statistics don't mean a thing," Blyleven said. "In other words, if I hold a club to one run and we get beat, I might as well get knocked out in the first inning. I don't think other clubs feel that way."

Southland bikers first in Baja run

ENSENADA, Mexico (AP) — Californians Al Baker, 25, of Long Beach, and Gene Cannady, 34, of Canoga Park, teamed efforts to battle a major storm and power their Honda 400 motorcycle early today to an overall victory in SCORE's grueling Baja 1,000 off-road race, along 800 miles of Baja California backtrails.

Another Californian, Malcolm Smith, 31, of Riverside, a former world motorcycle racing champion, was first to finish in the competition for four-wheel vehicles. He drove a Volkswagen-powered Hi Jumper dune buggy.

Baker said he piloted his Honda 400 through one of the worst storms he had ever encountered on the Baja peninsula, battling blowing sand, rain, fallen trees and rock slides.

Race officials said final placings in the race would be announced later today, after they had computed and checked the returns from all the checkpoints.

Mitch Mayes, 21, of Palmdale, Calif., the leader through much of the race, dropped out after he suffered a shoulder separation when his 400cc Husqvarna took a spill between checkpoints five and six, less than 100 miles from the finish.

Two other racers, Jim Sherman and Doug Mitchell, also were injured in an accident between checkpoints four and five. Their injuries were not believed to be serious, although they were taken in an ambulance for treatment at a San Diego hospital.

A total of 232 vehicles started the $180,000 race Thursday evening, with the 34 motorcycles entered getting off one hour before the first of the 198 four-wheelers left the line.

The pre-race favorities, Parnelli Jones, and the team of Rick Mears and Bobby Ferro, ran into trouble early.

Jones, a former winner at Indianapolis, failed to show up at the second checkpoint in his Chevrolet Blazer and he was presumed out of competition.

Mears and Ferro, two top off-road racers teamed together for the first time, suffered early flat tires which put them 22 minutes behind the leader at the second checkpoint.

The race was run along foothills and mountain tracks, traversing the Baja California peninsula from Ensenada to as far south as Punta Prieta and then back to the starting point via El Crucero, Puertocitos and San Felipe.

Lugo wins again

Don Lugo High notched its fifth shutout of the football season Thursday afternoon by blanking the Montclair High freshmen 34-0.

The victory gives coach John Monger's squad a 7-0 season mark. The Conquistadores have two games remaining in San Antonio League Freshman action, with a one-game lead in the standings over second place Damien.

Pacing Don Lugo's whitewash Thursday were linebacker Ray Gonzales, tackle Mike Rico and safety Pat Lacey. Halfbacks Donnie Anderson and Ernest Lujan led the Lugo offensive effort, as the Chino-based school broke open a tight 8-0 game with 26 points in the final half.

The win gives Monger's troups a 32-3 record in the four years that the school has fielded a freshman team. It was also the 19th shutout in those four years.

Lions sign receiver Farmer

DETROIT (AP) — Wide receiver George Farmer has been signed to help bolster the injury-plagued Detroit Lions, the National Football League team said Thursday.

Farmer, who began working out with the Lions after Jon Staggers was sidelined Sunday with a torn Achilles tendon in the game against Houston, spent five years with the Chicago Bears after being drafted on the 11th round in 1970.

Farmer, 27, is 6 feet 4, weighs 215 pounds and played college ball at UCLA.

The Lions said Farmer was acquired as a free agent after being dropped by the Bears earlier this year. He will serve as a backup along with Leonard Thompson this Sunday when the Lions travel to San Francisco to meet the 49ers. Marlin Briscoe and Ray Jarvis are the expected starters for the San Francisco game, the Lions said.

Earlier, the Lions signed quarterback Jack Concannon to serve as a backup to former third-stringer Joe Reed. Reed was catapulted into a starting role against his former 49er teammates Monday when starter Bill Munson and No. 2 man Greg Landry suffered knee injuries Sunday. Both have undergone knee surgery.

Lions Coach Rick Forzano blamed the Houston Astroturf, not the intensity of the game, for the injuries.

Munson has been lost for the season, but Landry is scheduled to begin special exercises next week and could play again before the end of the year.

The Lions said the acquisition of Farmer raises the team's roster to the limit of 43, following Munson's placement on the injured reserve list.

Eagles make comeback in big numbers

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — It appears things are looking up for eagles, especially along the Mississippi.

"More and more eagles are coming into the Mississippi River Valley to fish," says Elton Fawks, one of the country's foremost specialists on the winter habits of the lofty predator.

Most encouraging, the 67-year-old ornithologist says, is that the ratio of immature to mature eagles is climbing steadily, indicating greater breeding success in outlying nesting areas.

Fawks, who has studied the bald eagle for 20 years and is a consultant to the National Wildlife Federation, recently published a one-day count of eagles made early this year by more than 700 persons from St. Paul, Minn., to Tennessee. According to his figures, about one-third of all the bald eagles in the country now turn to the Mississippi for winter fishing grounds.

Conducted in February, the count recorded 1,131 bald and 16 golden eagles along the river and adjacent wildlife refuges.

From 1962 to 1966 the average for the same area was just 601 eagles. For 1967 through 1971 the average rose to 745. For the past three years the average shoots to 1,028—almost double the first.

Nearly 30 per cent of those sighted since 1972 have been immature, compared with 20 per cent in the 1962-66 period.

In the past, most of the birds were thought to have flown in from the north—Canada, Michigan, Wisconsin and especially Minnesota. But the latest figures show eagles from new areas are winging in.

"Up north, things are increasing every winter," Fawks said in a telephone interview at his East Moline, Ill., home. "But your numbers coming down should be fairly stable. The numbers shouldn't jump from 601 to 1,028.

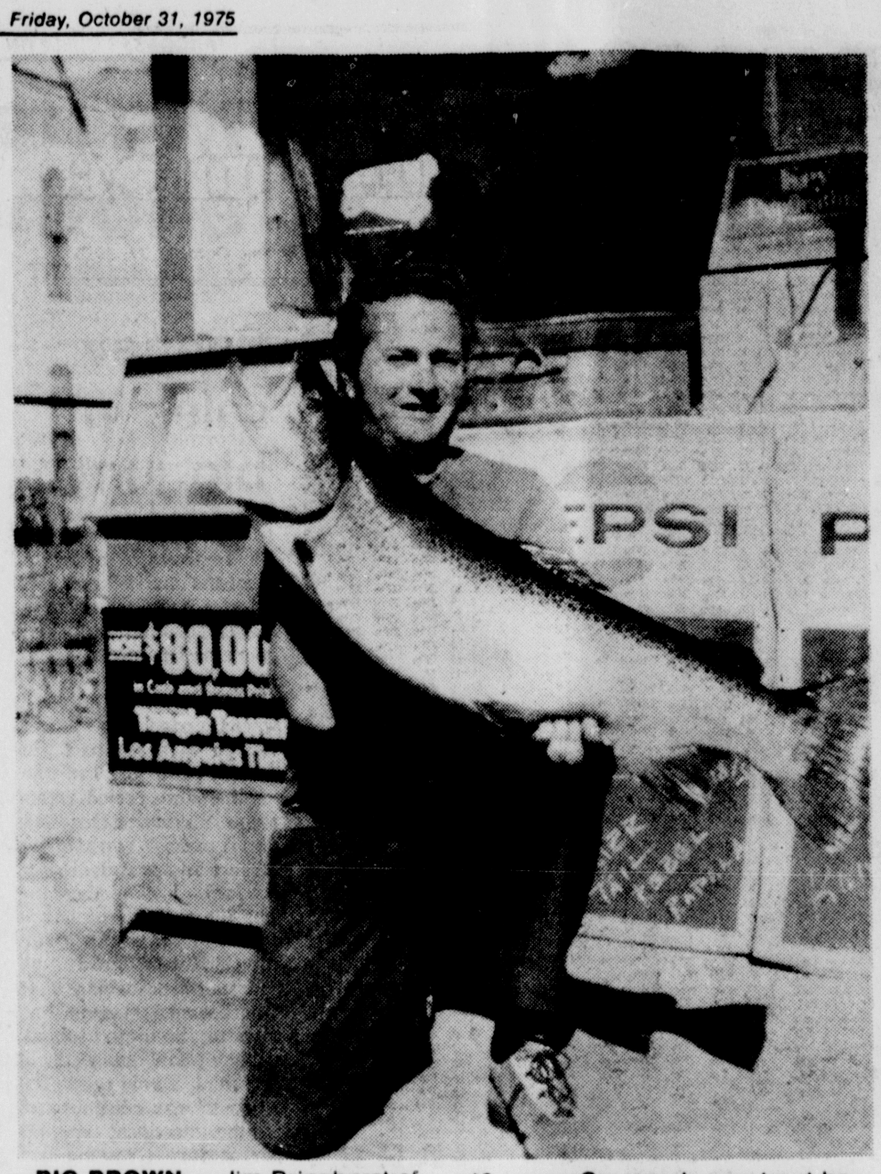
"Apparently eagles are coming here from other areas besides just north. I think they come from the duck hunting areas east and west. It's the only explanation we have for the increase in numbers."

Fawks reasons the immature eagles feed on the easy pickings in waterfowl hunting areas—carrion and wounded birds—until the food is exhausted. Then they move into the valley.

In time, a few may settle permanently. "If they keep on increasing, there is a possibility they'll come back to Illinois," he said. "If they do come back in Illinois, there will be just scattered pairs here and there.

"But I'm encouraged. They are not declining and they are increasing.

"If we can protect their roosting areas up and down that river and keep on controlling pesticides there is a good chance, an excellent chance, the eagle will survive."



BIG BROWN — Jim Bringhurst of San Dimas hefts this 18-pound, 10-ounce German brown trout he hooked near Bridgeport, Calif.

Local angler gets a big one—finally

Jim Bringhurst is an all or nothing type of guy. He won't settle for any of those puny one and two pound trout you can catch almost anywhere. No sir. He goes for the biggies.

"They have to be three pounds or better or I throw them back," Bringhurst said recently, following a fishing trip to Lower Twin Lake, near Bridgeport, about 90 miles north of Bishop of U.S. 395.

Now, that's not saying, of course, that Bringhurst always gets his three-pound-or-better fish. But, he's always trying.

He tried so hard on that recent trip up north that he landed a near record size German brown trout.

It was 18-pound, 10 oz. The record is 25 pounds, 11 ounces. But local residents claimed it was the biggest fish caught in the Bridgeport area in five years.

Jim, who is a L.A. County firefighter in San Dimas when he isn't out fishing, was trolling with a Rapala lure on 12-pound test line on a conventional level wind reil when he hooked the big German brown.

It was the only strike he had on a six-day trip. He's been going to the Bridgeport area for about 10 years and the big fish is the largest he's caught.

Jim plans to keep looking for big fish to catch, but he won't forget the one that didn't get away. Jim is having it mounted.

Condors sighted

The population of the endangered California condor probably is continuing on a downward trend, say wildlife biologists who coordinated last week's count of the giant vulture.

In the first such count to be held in three years, 95 bird watchers manned 41 observation stations in condor habitat in five Southern California counties to find out how the largest land bird in North America is faring in its struggle for continued existence.

On the first day of the two-day count, held last Tuesday and Wednesday, observers reported a total of 134 individual sightings. After eliminating duplicate reports involving the same birds, the survey team said at least 29 condors had been sighted. On Wednesday poor weather prevented many observers from reaching their stations, and only 37 sightings were reported.

The survey is conducted by the California Department of Fish and Game, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the U.S. Forest Service and the National Audubon Society.

Fish and Game wildlife biologist Robert Mallette explained that the survey is not an actual census since it is unlikely that observers will see every condor flying on the survey days, and it also is likely that at least some of the birds will remain on their roosts on any particular day.

Kings, Kickers keep winning

The Spittin' Image Claremont Kings and the Diamond Bar Kickers maintained their winning streaks last Saturday in Pacific Soccer League action.

The Div. II Kings defeated the South Bay Vikings 2-1 with Bill Pitts and Larry Ryan scoring goals and Lance Golden recording an assist. Doug Jollymour, Matt Smith, and goal-keeper Steve Tipping anchored a tough King defense that shut out the Vikings until the last ten minutes of play.

The Diamond Bar Kickers defeated the Claremont Stars 5-2 in Division IV action. Mike Brocki scored four goals and Brian Mullan scored once for the Kickers. Jimmy O'Brien and Bob McGwire scored for the Stars. The Stars defense, led by Dave Ryan and John Albert, played an outstanding game against the heavily favored Kickers. The Third Division Claremont Stars lost 3-2 to the South Bay Vikings.

This Saturday, the Division III Stars play Torrance Fram at 12:30 a.m. and the Kings play Cerritos United at 3 p.m., with both games scheduled at El Roble Intermediate School in Claremont.

This week's trout plants

The following lakes and streams, listed by county, are scheduled for restocking this week with catchable-size rainbow trout from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries:

LOS ANGELES — Big Rock Creek, Elizabeth Lake, Legg Lake, Puddingstone Reservoir, San Gabriel River (East and West Forks).

SAN BERNARDINO — Lytle Creek (Middle and North Forks), Santa Ana River, Santa Ana River (South Fork), Silverwood Lake.

KERN — Hart Park Lake, Kern River (KR3 Powerhouse to Lake Isabella, Borell Powerhouse to Democrat Dam), Kern River State Park.

TULARE — Kern River (Fairview Dam to KR3 Powerhouse, Johnsondale Bridge to Fairview Dam).

All stocking is scheduled road and weather conditions permitting.

Guided tours of Upper Newport Bay

Guided tours of California's newest ecological reserve, Upper Newport Bay, will be offered to the public Saturday by the Friends of Newport Bay and the California Department of Fish and Game.

Tour groups will depart from the intersection of East Bluff and Back Bay drives at various times between 9-10:30 a.m.

The walking tour along a semi-paved bayside road takes about two hours and includes stops where guides discuss the history of the bay, fossils, marsh plants, fishes, tidal mudflat organisms, shorebirds and waterfowl.

Upper Newport Bay, now managed by the California Department of Fish and Game, is considered to be the most important estuary from Morro Bay to the Mexican border. It serves as a spawning ground and nursery for numerous forms of marine life and as a home or resting place for thousands of shorebirds and waterfowl.

Upper Newport Bay is reached by taking the San Diego Freeway to the Jamboree Road exit, then traveling west about three miles to the East Bluff Drive traffic signal. Back Bay Drive, where the tour begins, is about one-eighth mile from there.

Additional information concernning the tours can be obtained from Barbara Johnson, phone (714) 879-8641, or from Frank Hubbard and Ralph Young of the California Department of Fish and Game, phone (213) 435-7741.

Two citizen committee established by the Department of Fish and Game for consultation and guidance on the development of Upper Newport Bay Ecological Reserve met this week in Orange County.

The Technical Guidance Committee offer guidance on such matters as wildlife enhancement, saltwater marsh restoration, dredging and water quality.

The broader aspects of community relations, public involvement and usage, financing and long-range goals will be the province of the Public Policy Advisory Committee, which meets at 3:30 p.m. Thursday at Newport Beach City Hall.

PICKS UCLA

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Howard Schoenfield, national junior tennis champion and winner of the Pepsi-Cola junior international, plans to enter UCLA in February. His father, Dr. Leslie Schoenfield, is a faculty professor.

Schoenfield, 17, weighs 145 pounds and hopes to add at least 20 pounds on his six-foot frame to gain more power in his game.

It's turkey time for Cal hunters

In a year of good feed and cover conditions and with production at high levels, large flocks of turkeys are forming in many areas of the state for the opening of the annual fall season Saturday.

Field checks by the Department of Fish and Game indicate that there are more than adequate supplies of late green forage and acorn mast for the big wily birds that will be fair game in 34 counties.

Late rains, said the DFG, kept grasses green longer than normal, providing good feed and cover in the northern part of the open area. An excellent acorn mast crop in most areas is providing supplemental feed and increasing the survival rate.

Particularly promising for the skilled hunter, according to the DFG forecast, are Yuba and Nevada counties north into Butte, Tehama and Shasta, and El Dorado, Calaveras, Tuolumne and counties to the south. The outlook for popular San Luis Obispo County is fair as production has not been as good as in some of the other areas.

The open area for the season running through Nov. 23 is the same as that for last year with the exception that Alameda County, open during 1974, will be closed this year. Open counties are the following:

Alpine Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Fresno, Glenn, Kern, Lake, Lassen, Madera, Marin, Mariposa, Mendocino, Monterey, Napa, Nevada, Placer, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Shasta, Sonoma, Tehama, Trinity, Tulare, Tuolumne and Yuba.

The limit is two birds of either sex per season. Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

Both the Rio Grande and Merriam's varieties are found in California as a result of the department's efforts to stock suitabie areas with this largest of game birds.

Corvina are biting

Fish and Game biologist Robert Hulquist said it best: "It's fabulous, the fishing is simply fabulous."

Hulquist was responding to a question on fishing for orangemouth corvina at Southern California's Salton Sea. Limits of four-to seven-pound corvina at the drop of a hook are common.

Here's how to hook 'em:

"First catch some mollies that are found where drainage waters enter into the sea. Use a No. 6 hook and attach it to the mollie in front of the tail or up on the back just under the dorsal. That's so the mollie can swim.

"Anchor your boat in the deep water (about 15 feet) and drop your line (use a two-or three-foot leader and swivel) in until the lead weight hits bottom. Then raise your line about a foot and let the mollie swim. Wham! you've hooked a fighting corvina."

Jaycee Women name coordinator for group

The District 24, California Jaycee Women, will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. Nov. 12 at First Federal Savings and Loan of San Gabriel Valley, La Verne. Among the activities planned for the evening, according to California Jaycettes District Coordinator Mrs. Gilbert Smith, are group discussions, presentation of tentative bylaws and a workshop on the state awards program. Jaycee District 24 Governor Dick Woody will also speak.

The decision to form a district Jaycee women's auxiliary was made at a recent women's leadership meeting led by Mr. Woody and Mrs. Smith, and attended by the women leaders of seven of the nine Jaycee locals in the district.

Through this newly-formed organization, which will meet quarterly, the women hope to exchange ideas, receive information and instruction from the state and national Jayceettes, increase participation in their local groups and generally work together to promote the Jaycee goals of community involvement, leadership training and self improvement. Membership in the district group is comprised primarily of the wives of Jaycees, but it is also open to sisters, girl friends, honorary members and other women who are associated with the Jaycee organization.

MRS. GILBERT SMITH

Cochairwomen of the district group are Mrs. Carol Smith and Mrs. Susan Michalak, bylaws; and Mrs. Sally Castillo, Mrs. Sandy Klump, Mrs. Billie Phillipsen and Mrs. Marilyn Tompkins, program.

The Jaycee clubs and women's auxiliary leaders that make up District 24 are Baldwin Park: Mrs. Susan Michalak, First Lady; Chino: Ruth Cann and Carla Hoop, honorary members; Diamond Bar: Kathi Cademartori, Jayceettes president; Glendora: Page Mitchell, Jaycee Wives president; Hacienda Heights: Sally Castiilo, Jay-C-Ettes president; La Verne: Rosemary Riedy, First Lady; Pomona: Carol Smith, Jay-C-Ettes president; San Dimas: Billie Phillipsen, Jaycee Wives president; and Walnut: Marilyn Tompkins, Jaycee-Ettes president.

These local women's groups have participated in such community service projects as children's shoe clinics, eye clinics, hearing clinics, girls' softball, Reading is Fundamental programs, drug abuse mobile clinics, muscular dystrophy fund-raisers and bike rodeos. The women are also involved in ways and means projects and put on club social events for the men and women.

Through the district meetings, increased participation in state functions and improved communications through a monthly newsletter, the local women's groups can share the details of their best projects.

Enterline-Curl vows exchanged

The First Church of God in Pomona was the setting for the marriage of Barbie Curl of Pomona and Larry Enterline of Pomona.

MRS. ENTERLINE

The couple was married by the Rev. Rollin Calkin and the Rev. Jack Loo in an evening ceremony followed by a reception held at the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell E. Curl of Pomona. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jean Enterline of Pomona and Ed Enterline of Covina.

Mrs. Carole Millikan of Wichita, Kan. was matron of honor. Miss Cindee Ebersole of San Diego was maid of honor.

Serving as best man was Charlie Gill of San Diego.

Bridesmaids were Diane Stahl of Claremont, Eva Garcia of San Diego, Deni Enterline of Azusa and Barbara Enterline of San Bernardino.

Ushers were Jim Curl of Pomona, Jim Hess of La Verne, Danny Carroll of La Verne, Stu Laurie of Montclair and Dave Curl of Pomona.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Santa Barbara and are at home in Pomona.

Joyce Brothers
Has a roving eye

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband cannot pass another woman without looking as if he wants to go to bed with her. This isn't just an assumption on my part. Other people notice it, and he talks about it frequently in front of me. My girl friend tells me that the real point is, that while he may look as if he wants to go to bed with them he doesn't. And, he never has since we've been married. What's more, I don't think he ever will because he pretends to have a lot more sex drive than he actually has.

Another thing he does that bothers and embarrasses me is his telling dirty jokes to any woman he happens to find attractive. He thinks they like it, but as a woman, I know they don't. — V.W.

Dear V.W.: Your husband sounds like a man who needs a great deal of reassurance from you, especially in the sexual area. I'd be interested in knowing if he has always behaved this way or if it is something relatively new with him. If his pattern has changed recently, it may be that he's reacting to a change in his relationship with you.

You might find that the easiest way to break his habit is to bolster his self-esteem to the point where he feels no urge or need to prove himself in the presence of others.

Usually, the man who feels compelled to tell risque stories is trying to reassure himself and others that he has overcome his fears and inhibitions about sex. Obviously, the individual who has actually overcome anxieties doesn't need to constantly remind himself that this is the case.

Doctors report an increase in the number of men, especially young men and those in their middle years, who seem to have anxieties about their ability to perform sexually. Because of changing attitudes about sex, because of the present permissiveness and because of women's candor about expressing their own expectations, some men may feel the pressure to perform is too great.

A number of books and articles discuss a range of sexual gymnastics that may make women have unrealistic expectations and may make men question whether they know anything at all about sex. If a man were slightly insecure or shy to begin with, he might suddenly feel like an insignificant underling or an inadequate extra on a stage where he sees himself surrounded by superstuds or sexual gymnasts of almost unimaginable prowess. Realistically, this is all nonsense but in a society such as our, where sex is often seen as a commodity, it's not too surprising that some men should experience doubt and anxiety.

I'd like to know how you react when your husband makes overtures toward other women. If you fly into a jealous rage, whether at home after the encounter, or at the moment it happens, you're playing his game and this isn't going to help him face his real problem. It will only tend to make him repeat the pattern because your expression of jealousy is a counterproductive way of reassuring him of your sexual interest in him.

It would be far better to try to get him to analyze and search for the real motivation for his behavior. If he can't do it alone, he might seek professional help. As with most problems, if this is ignored, it's not likely to go away or cure itself. If it continues unchecked, it could be very damaging to your relationship.

If you can reassure him in private and let him know that you think he's attractive and sexually adequate you may help him overcome his problems.

B'nai B'rith Girls elect new leaders

Sunshine B'nai B'rith Girls held their semi-annual installation of officers recently at Sir George's Restaurant.

The installing officer was Mrs. Martin Krentzman.

The newly installed officers are: Caroline Krentzman, president; Adrienne Spanier, vice president; Lori Okun, recording secretary; Judy Krentzman, corresponding secretary; Carla Krentzman, treasurer; Liz Ratinoff, M.I.T. mom; and past president Kate Bernstein, counselor. Pam Byer is the new advisor.

Special guests were Rabbi and Mrs. Ben Beliak. Rabbi Beliak of the Claremont Colleges gave the opening and closing prayers.

Sutphen-Hansen vows are read

Miss Cynthia Hansen of Pomona and Al Sutphen of Azusa were married recently in the Peace Lutheran Church in Pomona.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sutphen were married in an evening ceremony read by the Rev. Edward Krueger and the Rev. Vernon Trahms.

Honor attendant was Miss Ellie Kania of Pomona.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Debi Olsen of Claremont, Miss Diana Wymer of La Verne, Miss Candy Hansen of Pomona and Mrs. Kathi Sica of Anaheim.

Standing as best man was George Sutphen of San Jose. Ushers were G. A. Sutphen of Azusa, Mitch Haack of Bellflower, Fred Sica of Anaheim and Doug Maire of Diamond Bar.

Flower girls were Jeanni and Sheri Sutphen of Azusa.

Following the rite, a reception was held at the church. When the couple returned from a wedding trip around Southern California the newlyweeds established a home in Pomona.

The Palm opens

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Because he missed the steaks and lobsters of a Manhattan restaurant called The Palm, William Peter Blatty has opened a branch in West Hollywood.

Blatty can afford to indulge himself. He earned millions from the book and the movie of "The Exorcist," which he also produced. At the opening of the restaurant he said that he will not participate in the sequel.

How does he feel about an "Exorcist II?" Said he: "Part of my contract with Warner Brothers in releasing the rights restricts me from making any comment."

RIDING HIGH — Billy Masters plays the title role in the Cal Poly production of "Merton of the Movies." The comedy about Hollywood of the silent film days will be presented in the University Theater at 8 p.m. Thursday through Nov. 8 and the following weekend.

'Merton of the Movies'

Comedy set at Cal Poly

The Cal Poly Theater Arts Department will present "Merton of the Movies," a comedy about Hollywood of the silent film days, in the University Theater at 8 p.m. Thursday through Nov. 8 and the following weekend.

The George Kaufman-Marc Connelly nostalgia piece is about a young country boy who dreams of becoming a fine dramatic actor in the "peril" melodrama of that day. The play traces the career of the hero, who eventually, through sacrifice and subterfuge, becomes one of the most popular farce actors in the country.

Merton's equipment for the trek toward fame and fortune is a correspondence course in film, rehearsals with store dummies, 8 by 10 glossies reflecting his romantic visions of himself, and Merton's idea of the ideal movie star's wardrobe — "a western suit, automobile clothes, a suit for polo, and society-man clothes." Merton adopts the movie-star name, Clifford Armytage.

Designing the costumes for the play is Terry Tam Soon, artist-designer who has worked on productions at the Mark Taper Forum, the Inner City Cultural Center, Visions Programs on Channel 28, and the East-West Players. Soon is involved in current Hollywood production, having just designed four films in the past four months.

However, he says he has always been intensely interested in the silent movie period, and he maintains active contact with some of the stars of that era.

Soon is combining the authenticity of rare garments of the period with totally new designs, using furs, feathers, brocades, and beads.

Admission is $2.50. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 598-4546.

Orchestra plans auditions

Southern California musicians between 12 and 19 are invited to audition for the Junior Philharmonic Orchestra Nov. 6-26.

There are openings in all sections of the youth symphony, and first chair positions are vacant for oboe, bassoon and trombone.

Appointments for audition times can be made by calling 213 272-3667 or writing to Junior Philharmonic, 114 N. Clark Drive, Los Angeles 90048.

The Junior Philharmonic Orchestra was organized 39 years ago by Ernst Katz, who conducts the 125-piece group. The orchestra has performed at such places as the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center, Hollywood Bowl, Greek Theater, Shrine Auditorium and the Los Angeles Convention Center. More than 4,000 young musicians have received training in the orchestra without charge.

Chili cook-off slated at Tropico Gold Mine

Some 10,000 chili lovers from as far away as Texas are expected at the ninth annual World Championship Chili Cook-off at Tropico Gold Mine near Rosamond Sunday.

The day-long event, sponsored by the International Chili Society, will draw a large contingent from the local area, including some 30 members of the Cucamonga chapter of ICS. The site is 14 miles northwest of Lancaster.

Admission is $2, children under 12 free. Proceeds will go to the Los Angeles Children's Hospital.

Chief judge of the contest is C. V. Wood Jr., president of McCulloch Oil Co., undefeated retired national chili champion. Other judges will be such celebrities as Joey Bishop, Willie Shoemaker, Joanne Dru, Robert Mitchum, Dale Robertson and Peter Marshall.

Defending champion of the "salute to the dish that won the West" is Allegani Jani Schofield of Houston, Tex., the only woman ever to win the title. The late Woodruff "Woody" De Silva of Ontario was one-time national champion.

Previous cook-offs were held in Terlingua, Tex., a small "ghost town" in the western part of the state. Because so many California contestants entered, ICS decided to move the event to Tropico Gold Mine this year. The Chamber of Commerce and the Restoration Society of Terlingua filed a tongue-in-cheek suit in Travis County District Court for a restraining order against the move, but Judge Jerry Delanna rejected the bond posted — two cases of pinto beans and a boiled chicken.

An expected 100 contestants will start setting up their equipment at 8 a.m. and begin preparing ingredients at 11 a.m. (According to ICS rules, only meat, chili pepper and other spices may be used — no beans.) The cooking will start at noon and the judging will be held at 4 p.m.

Violinist plans concert

Russian violinist Igor Oistrakh, son of the late David Oistrakh, will be soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic in concerts at the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, 1:30 p.m. next Friday and 2:30 p.m. Nov. 9. Zubin Mehta conducts.

Oistrakh will play Violin Concerto No. 1 in A Minor by Shostakovich, a work dedicated to David Oistrakh.

The second half of the program will be devoted to Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D.

Oistrakh was born in Odessa in 1931. He began his violin studies at 6, his teachers including both his father and his father's teacher, Pyotr Stoliarsky, who also taught Nathan Milstein. While a student at the Moscow Conservatory, Oistrakh drew the attention of the international musical world in 1952 by winning first prize in the second Wieniawski competition in Poland. His father's international fame had begun with his winning the same prize in the first competition 15 years earlier.

Oistrakh first appeared in Europe in 1963 and immediately conquered the public and press in both London and Paris. He has since played throughout the USSR and in Austria, Germany, Finland, France, Japan and Switzerland. These concerts are part of his sixth tour of the U.S.

Tickets are available at the Music Center box office from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from noon to 6 p.m. Sundays, and at all Wallich's, Liberty and Mutual agencies.

POOL SHARK — Marie and Donny Osmond, younger sister and brother of the singing Osmond Brothers, find an unexpected and unwelcome guest in their swimming pool. It's a rehearsal for their television special, "Donnie and Marie Osmond Show," to be aired Nov. 16.

Players to do musical

The Trinity Players of Trinity United Methodist Church, Pomona, will present the musical, "L'il Abner," in the auditorium of the School of Theology at Claremont at 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Nov. 8 and at 2 p.m. Nov. 8 and 9.

The show, based on Al Capp's comic strip, is directed by Merrilee Drake and produced by Harold Goodell. The plot revolves around Dogpatch, U.S.A., which has been selected as the site of nuclear tests because it is the most unnecessary spot in the country.

The play stars Jim Budde in the title role; Dee Dee Jernigan as Daisy Mae; Geoffrey Lamb, Marryin' Sam; Chris Michalski, Mammy Yokum, and Charles Bridenbaugh, Pappy Yokum.

Others in the cast are David Kellner, Dorsey Allen, Joyce Anne Antal, Goodell, Dean Spencer, Frank Kohel, Red Murray, Jim Marts, Don Kehret, Ron Robertson, Danny Reyes, Joe Pense, Barbara Bailey, Gregg Braswell, Chuck Callahan, John Young, Beth Vinatieri, Barbara Pierce, Debbie Kehret, Marylyn Kehret, Ellen Antal, Bonnie Olden, Mary Pickryl, Cindy Reeves, Sandy Bowman, Edith Ayala, Kathleen Culp, Geoffry Culp, Jennifer Culp, Missy Clark, Karen Pierce, Carolyn Ayala, Gene Kohel, Julius Massuto, Rick Huffine, Will Benney, Bob Wussler, Bill Stice, Tony Ayala, Susan Elhai and Wayne Clark.

Tickets are $2 adults, $1 for children under 14. Reservations may be obtained by contacting the church, 629-9748 or Goodell, 622-1181.

YOUNG LOVE — Jim Budde as L'il Abner and Dee Dee Jernigan as Daisy Mae star in the Trinity Players production of "L'il Abner." The musical based on Al Capp's cartoon strip will be presented in the auditorium of the School of Theology at Claremont at 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Nov. 8 and at 2 p.m. Nov. 8 and 9. Reservations can be made at 629-9748.

Paul McCartney 'death'

Beatles hoax lingers on

By STEPHEN FORD

Perhaps it's morbid curiosity or maybe a macabre sort of nostalgia but the now-acknowledged hoax of ex-Beatle Paul McCartney's death is as vivacious today as when it was topic "A" exactly six years ago.

The rumor was that McCartney had died in a car accident piror to the release of the album "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," and had been replaced by a lookalike musician.

The rumor's primary mouthpiece, then a college student at Hofstra in New York, reports today that his celebrated detective work is still drawing as much interest as when it was featured in Life magazine in October, 1969.

Lou Yager, now the 24-year old vice-president of a radio station in Lakewood, N.J., said that radio stations across the country still invite him to talk over the air about the hoax. He recently addressed a convention for Beatles' diehards in New York and ABC-TV has indicated interest in a televised interview with the man who unmasked the Walrus.

"Everyone knows that it was a hoax," Yager asserts. "But people still love hearing the clues, even now after the Beatles denied it all and chalked it up to coincidence.

"I think it's still popular on college radio stations because there's an entirely new listening audience, a generation not raised on the Beatles but aware of their phenomenal impact. Today, Beatles' conventions are held across the nation and there are as many kids there who were in diapers during Beatlemania, as there are older fans."

Indeed, a Philadelphia radio station received more than 700 calls in 30 minutes after Yager ran through his repertoire of the audio and visual clues allegedly revealing McCartney's death. A spokesman at the station said the majority of the calls were from freshly smitten teens. And Yager said he's sold more than 1,000 cassette tapes of the audio clues (some of them gibberish when heard on the album but apparently significant when played backward) and a narrative by Yager delineating additional hints on various album sleeves.

But Yeager is not just a fanatic sifting through ancient albums and playing tapes backwards. He contends the hoax was a latent commercial conspiracy "not by the Beatles necessarily but perhaps by their record company or management."

"I believe," he said, "that the Beatles deliberately inserted those clues as far back as 1966 and waited for someone to catch on. It was the most fascinating public relations stunt in years and gave the Beatles a few laughs. But someone took it a few steps further. Maybe they felt the Beatles' popularity was fading and so latched onto this death hoax as a way to renew them."

Yager has been branded a whacko by more than a few radio deejays upon finishing his conspiracy conjectures. "I think the Beatles were supposed to break up about when they did, then all the clues in the records would be exposed, everyone would accept it as media hype or weird British humor, and the Beatles would reunite to enter the '70s as the most successful rock band for the second decade."

Some people feel Yager is exploiting a "dead" issue for personal gain. Others see it as harmless amusement for a sensation-starved public. Whatever the reasons behind the undying rumor, it's obvious that even five years after their breakup, the Beatlemania mystique is still a national epidemic.

Record company salutes women

NEW YORK (AP) — A new classcal recording label with the purpose of giving recognition to women composers has been formed.

The president of the company, Gemini Hall Records is Marnie Hall, violinist and member of the Vieuxtemps String Quartet.

The first album is a two-record set titled "Woman's Work." It contains classical compositions by 18 European women who lived from 1587 to the present.

29th annual

Pilgrim Festival to open

Thousands of visitors are expected to attend the 27th annual Pilgrim Festival at Pilgrim Place, Claremont, next Friday and Saturday. The 300 residents of the retirement center for religious workers will don Pilgrim costumes and entertain with a variety of activities, from flower sales to the turkey casserole buffet luncheon to the traditional pageant, "Pilgrims Triumphant."

Each day's program starts at 10 a.m. with a bazaar, hourly tours of the grounds in a motorized Mayflower, and a color slide show about Pilgrim Place. Turkey casserole will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The Pageant starts at 2 p.m.

While parents are shopping at the 20 booths in the bazaar, the children will be entertained by a Pilgrim puppet show and rides on the Massasoit Superchief and Kiddie Carousel. At a A "glue-in," youngsters will create items from wood chips.

The bazaar counters will hold wide-ranging offerings, including handcrafted objects, jewelry made of semi-precious stones mounted in rings, necklaces, tie clips, woven fabrics, holiday decorations, knitting and needlework, candies and cookies.

In addition there will be plants grown and potted in Pilgrim Place gardens, stamps and coins collected by the far-traveled residents, Oriental art such as Japanese prints and Chinese embroidery and other treasures given to the bazaar by the residents and their friends.

The used-book booth will have a thousand volumes, and resident authors will autograph recent books on China, India and the Mayflower Pilgrims.

A "Snacks and Victuals" booth is open the day long.

The pageant, written and produced by the residents, tells the human side of the 17th Century English dissenters' life, from their revolt against King James' edict banning free worship to the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth colony. The residents enact all roles except those reserved for Claremont children.

No admission is charged for festival or pageant. Proceeds from bazaar sales benefit the health services of Pilgrim Place.

Mrs. John W. Flucke is general chairman of the festival, and Mrs. Josiah V. Roth heads the 20 bazaar committees. Mrs. Leslie C. Sayre is pageant director. G. Ross Thomas is treasurer, and Rev. Harry D. Brown, assistant treasurer. Mrs. Merrill N. Isely heads the food committee, Francis C. Ellis captains the "Mayflower" tours, and Mrs. Wilbur Simmons is personnel director coordinating activities of the residents and 400 non-resident helpers.

Dickens to visit Claremont

Actor-playwright Emlyn Williams will give his one-man portrayal of Charles Dickens in Garrison Theater of the Claremont Colleges at 8:15 p.m. Nov. 12 and 13.

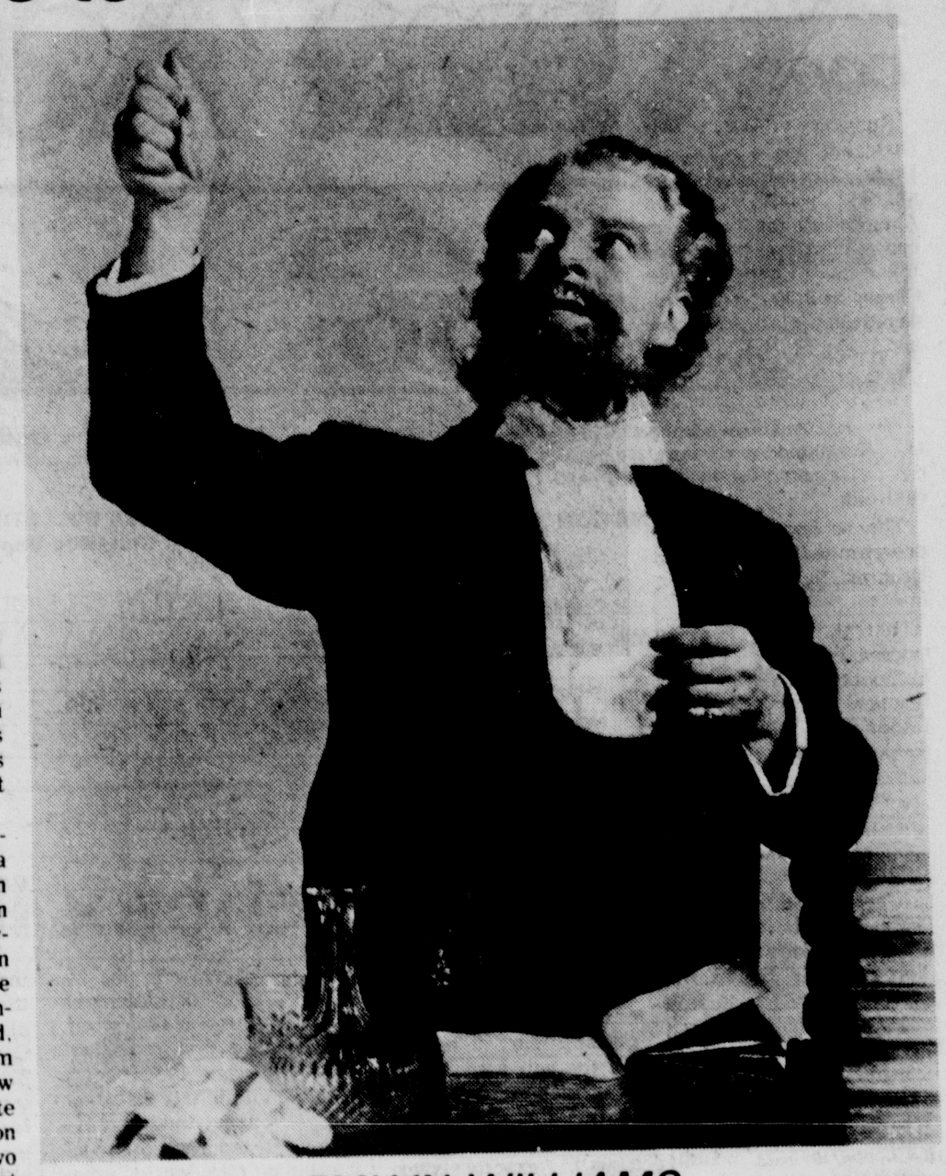
Tickets at $5.50 and $4.50 are on sale at the theater and at Mutual and Liberty agencies.

"Emlyn Williams as Charles Dickens" has been presented to lavish public and critical accalim throughout North and South America and Europe. Clive Barnes of the New York Times called it "a uniquely rich performance," and the London Sunday Telegraph hailed it as "a totally absorbing display of virtuosity."

In recreating Dickens as he appeared on his own tour over a hundred years ago, reading excerpts from his works, Williams gives utterance to the enormous universality of this great writer.

Williams depicts Dickens standing behind a curiously simple red plush covered reading stand, an exact replica of the one ordered by him in London in the 1860s. Williams will be wearing the formal evening dress of the period, with a scarlet geranium boutonniere, and will draw off his impeccable white gloves and place them on the desk. Then, for two hours he will present character after character from the volumes before him — Little Dorrit, Mrs. Gamp, the Podsnaps, Paul Dombey, Mr. Chops, and dozens of others.

When Dickens began his reading in 1853 in London and Birmingham he was at the height of his fame. But he adapted his works for dramatic presentation to audiences, many of whom knew nothing of the books or had forgotten what they knew. Williams assumes with each piece that his listeners are approaching something entirely new.



EMLYN WILLIAMS

Williams has had lifetime reverence for the author and researched every detail of Dickens' own performance.

As a result he has been able to create in the theater a world as closely and variously populated as the world that emerged from Dickens' pen. The final bow he takes is not to the audience, but to the vacated reading desk and the volumes on it, his tribute to the master author.

Credits male chauvinism

SEATTLE (AP) — Male chauvinism and partisanship helped make America great, says Dr. Richard Jensen.

Jensen, a historian with the Newberry Library of Chicago, says Americans have not traditionally achieved through personal merit.

He says they got ahead through family connections in business and through partisanship based on political and religious loyalties, including ethnic political machines.

Jensen also told a gathering of historians, archivists and genealogists in Seattle recently that male supremacy was the norm through much of American history. And he said it must be credited with helping America prosper.
